ENGINEERS TO PICK SITE FOR AIRPORT SOON

CAA Officials Say They'll Be In Mansfield Within Two Weeks For Conference.

MAYOR GETS LETTER

Amount of Land Required Still Indefinite; Early Council Study Planned.

Engineers from the Civil Aeronautics authority offices in Columbus and Chicago said today they would be in Mansfield within the next two weeks to choose a site for the proposed municipal airport development project and inform city officials what the CAA will require from them to qualify for the $600,000 allocation granted Monday for the airport expansion program.

Herbert Howell, district CAA engineer in Columbus, told The News-Journal today that he and Harold E. Horner, Chicago regional CAA supervisor of airports, would select a site for the project within a few days after viewing the area north and west of the present airport.

Meanwhile, Mayor W. J. Locke today had a letter from Harold E. Neely, regional CAA manager in Chicago, asking if the city is ready to acquire the necessary land for the development and enter into an agreement with the government to sponsor the work and operate and maintain the airport after the job is done.

Neely informed the mayor that the government will grade, drain, and otherwise prepare the landing area, construct paved runways which will be 150 feet wide and 5,600 feet long, build 50-foot taxiways for planes, and grade and condition 1,000-foot safety strips at the end of each runway.

Howell said today that the construction of hangars and other buildings on the airport will be up to the city, although there is a general hope and belief in the city that additional government allocations

Historic Lakeville Landmark Quickly Leveled by Flames

LAKEVILLE — Fire yesterday destroyed the Horn grain elevator, an old landmark of Lakeville, owned by H. K. Horn. The elevator had belonged to the Horn family for several generations.

When the blaze was discovered it had already gained too much headway to be successfully fought by the Lakeville volunteer fire department, which confined its efforts to saving the nearby frame home of L. R. Burgett by means of a bucket brigade.

Burgett's garage also was destroyed along with a few tools. There was no car in the garage.

Extent of the fire loss could not be learned today. The elevator had been closed down for some time, awaiting the arrival of the next wheat crop.

Cause of the blaze was not determined immediately.

LANDS SAFELY

Lockbourne Officer's Skill Saves His Life.

DAYTON—(U.P.)—Lt. Col. Walter W. Wise, commanding officer of the sub-depot at Lockbourne air base, Columbus, made a successful belly landing yesterday at Patterson Field in his 400-mile per hour Republica Thunderbolt airplane when the landing gear jammed.

The plane was damaged only slightly. Col. Wise was not injured.

SPORTSMAN DIES

Dennis Long Helped to Organize American League.

LOWELL, Mass. —(U.P.)— Dennis A. Long, 78, one of the organizers of the old Western Baseball league which later became the American league, died at his home last night.

With the late Ban Johnson, Long aided in forming the Western league in 1893 and at one time held franchises of the clubs in Birmingham, Ala., Toledo, O., and Reading, Pa.

Ex-Screen Comic to Wed Oona O'Neill, Reports Say.

BULLETIN

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—(AP)—Charles Chaplin, motion picture commedian producer, and Oona O'Neil, daughter of Playwright Eugene O'Neill, obtained a marriage license here today. Chaplain gave his age as 54. Miss O'Neill said she was 18.

(By United Press)

HOLLYWOOD — Joan Barry, 23-year-old accuser of Charlie Chaplin, collapsed early today upon being informed of reports that he had eloped with still another protege of his, 18-year-old Oona O'Neill.

Physicians hurried to the red-haired Miss Barry, fearful for the safety of her unborn child, whose father, she insists, is the white-haired Chaplin

A Hollywood tipster brought on a coast-wide check of marriage license bureaus by newsmen when he reported that the multi-millionaire comedian and the sloe-eyed daughter of Eugene O'Neill, novelist, had kept a rendezvous in a west Hollywood house late yesterday.

He said Chaplin and Miss O'Neill, who had insisted her relations with the much-married comic were "strictly esoteric," had driven to the house in separate cars with their baggage and had left together a few minutes later for Chaplin's marrying Shangri-La.

Miss O'Neill, daughter of the man who wrote "Strange Interlude," "Desire Under the Elms," "Emperor Jones," and numerous other hit plays, had been studying the art of cinema under direction of the 54-year-old Chaplin for the last several months—or since he decided that the Brooklyn-born Miss Barry was not the actress he had hoped.

Miss O'Neill was questioned by detectives investigating the wierdly involved case of the freckle-nosed Miss Barry and said that she never had seen the British-born actor without her mother being present.

"Charles is a wonderful teacher, a wonderful man," she said. "But

Puppies Gain, Get Food From Doll's Nursing Bottle

Mrs. R. E. McCulloch's three little puppies are improving, thank you!

But only because Mrs. McCulloch, 195 Buckingham street, has the patience and interest to give them the special attention they need.

In spite of the appeal yesterday, no one has offered mother "Skippy" any practical help to date. Because of illness, "Skippy" has been unable to feed her week-old puppies and Mrs. McCulloch, lacking a substitute mother, has been feeding them with an eyedropper for the past three days.

Every half hour the three tiny babies had been fed a small portion of milk. The situation has now improved to the point where she gives them their feeding from a doll's nursing bottle every two hours.

Ohioans Who Died on Argonaut Honored By Navy.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Nine Ohioans were among the 102 officers and crewmen of the U. S. submarine Argonaut receiving tribute from the navy department for accepting "destruction rather than surrender."

The navy announced yesterday that all men aboard the Argonaut have been awarded identical letters of commendation by Rear Admiral Charles A. Lockwood, commander of submarine forces, Pacific fleet, for a successful attack against an enemy destroyer during a patrol near Rabaul, New Britain.

The Argonaut, the largest undersea craft of its type in the U. S. navy, was reported overdue and presumed to be lost on Feb. 21.

TAPPAN GETS ITS 'E' TODAY

Employes To Be Honored at Afternoon Ceremony; WAVES Take Part.

Tappan Stove company employes, fighting men on the home front, receive the Army-Navy "E" production award at ceremonies at 2:30 p. m. today at the plant.

The "E" flag will fly over the plant tomorrow in tribute to the company's part in the war production and the efficiency with which it has played its role. The flag will be presented by Lieut.-Commander A. E. Heiser, chief resident inspector of naval material.

Individual pins awarded to each worker will be presented by Major Albert C. Crawford, 5th Service command, Ft. Hayes, Columbus, representing the army.

A color guard of WAVES from the Cleveland Field Branch, Bureau Supplies and Accounts of the Navy department, will raise both American flag at the opening of the ceremony and Army-Navy "E" flag after it has been accepted by Paul R. Tappan, president of the company.

Major Alan P. Tappan, Army Air corps, will serve as master-of-ceremonies and the Mansfield High band, under the direction of J. Merton Holcombe, will furnish music for the ceremonies.

REVOKES RATIONS OF 'FIRST LADY'

Panel Rules Trip of Governor's Wife Wasn't Essential.

BALTIMORE — (AP) — A special Baltimore ration board panel revoked last night the "C" gasoline ration book for a state-owned car in which Mrs. Herbert R. O'Conor, wife of Maryland's governor, took a trip to South Carolina, and also suspended Mrs. O'Conor's personal gasoline ration for three months.

The hearing panel decided that Mrs. O'Conor's plea of making the trip to Charleston, S. C., late in March for reasons of her health, could not be considered as part of the "household duties required of the mistress of Government house.

Shoe Dealers Get Breather As 10-Day Stamp Rush Ends

Mansfield shoe dealers were mopping their brows, breathing a sigh of relief and adjusting themselves to normal operations today. Stamp No. 17 was a thing of the past!

In a more than 10-day rush, unprecedented in the history of shoe retailing, many Mansfield stores had their shoe stocks greatly depleted and some styles and colors completely sold out.

Dealers today estimated that buying was 40 to 50 per cent greater than last year but said this figure might have been even greater if buying had not been controlled by rationing.

Though stocks in some of the stores were reported the "lowest in history" today, there are still adequate supplies of shoes and will continue to be. Dealers explained there is no need for any "panic buying" because there are plenty of shoes to supply all needs.

The rush to use Stamp No. 17 before it became invalid yesterday nearly wiped out the stock of white shoes. These were the most popular items of purchase though some stores reported that "people bought anything just to get what was coming to them."

To the shoe store clerks who have been frantic most of this week and last trying to wait on all the customers, taking care of six or seven at one time, the lull today was more than welcome.

THREE BILLION VOTED CIVILIAN WAR AGENCIES

House Committee Puts OK on Huge Expenditures For Home Front In '44.

DEFENDS BUREAU HEADS

Hits Critics Who Lack Facts on America's Progress In War Effort.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The house appropriations committee gave the much-assailed home front government bureaucrats a virtual clean bill of health today in appropriating $2,939,441,504 for 18 civiliar war agencies in fiscal 1944.

It admitted that mistakes have been made and will be made; it praised constructive public criticism of the war effort and called for more. But it denounced those who criticize without knowledge of the tremendous burdens thrown on agency heads and of the great strides made in putting the United States on a war footing.

"The type of criticism which serves only to create public distrust in the agencies is not helpful to the war effort," the committee said in its highly complimentary report.

"War does not wait for doing things in the normal way. War calls for quick action and getting the main job done. War itself is wasteful."

The committee advised skeptics of the home front war effort to read the general statements of the war agency heads which the group described as "illuminating." Five weeks of testimony before the committee — 2,100 printed pages—was released simultaneously with the appropriations bill. That testimony covered virtually all details of the work of the war agencies, and ranged from revelations that the United Nations are outproducing Axis war industries at the rate of $125,000,000,000 to $65,000,000,000 a year to fears that the straining national transportation system may fall apart "like the one-horse shay."

The committee cut only $139,492,418 from the budget request for $3,078,933,922 for the 18 agencies, the work of which has been multiplied many times in the last year. The increased scope of the agencies' work was evident from the fact that the

MAKES ESCAPE

Army Deserter Hunted in City After Leap From Train.

An army deserter who made a daring leap from the Red Arrow, fast Pennsylvania train, as it was leaving the Mansfield station this morning, was sought today by police.

The soldier, John W. Sweitzer, 21, eluded a military policeman who was returning him to Selfridge Field, Mich., and jumped from the train while it was moving. The officer in charge of Sweitzer was unable to report the escape until the train reached Tiffin, its first stop after leaving Mansfield, about an hour and a half after Sweitzer escaped. The train stopped in Mansfield at 6 a. m.

Sweitzer was described as about five feet, six inches tall and weighing 140 pounds. He was wearing a garrison cap, army shirt, riding breeches, leather boots, and a field jacket with sergeant's stripes, police were told.

ASSURED OF OIL

Ohioans to Be Able to Heat Homes, OPA Promises.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Persons who use fuel oil to heat their homes had assurance from the office of price administration today that ample supplies will be available before winter.

OPA Fuel Rationing Director Joel Dean told 150 petroleum industry representatives meeting here yesterday that sufficient oil to match ration coupons would be delivered to cities and dealers.

George VI on Surprise Visit to North Africa

Inspects Armies That Defeated Nazis Forces.

(Editor's Note: First details of the visit to North Africa by King George VI are related in the following dispatch by an American correspondent representing the news services of the United States.)

By RELMAN MORIN

(American Correspondent Representing Combined U. S. Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—King George VI of England has been in North Africa since last Saturday visiting scenes of the Allies' greatest victory and talking with the soldiers and sailors who won it.

The news of the visit was kept an official secret until today.

His inspection tour, crowded into a few days, took him into a number of different British and American military establishments, aboard warships, through convalescent camps—even to a stretch of beach where more than 3,000 troops were having a Sunday swim.

That was an unforgettable moment. The men caught sight of the king standing on the verandah of a small villa for officers and instantly came racing down the beach from all directions resembling a horde of semi-nude natives on the warpath.

Word reached even those in the water. There were no stop watches held but undoubtedly every swimming record from 100 yards to a half mile was broken.

In a matter of seconds the beach beneath the verandah was

Fatalities Feared In Night Of Race Rioting In Texas

(By International News Service)

BEAUMONT, Tex.—Possibility that several persons, mostly Negroes, may have been killed in a widespread outbreak of violence in Beaumont, was expressed today by Chief of Police Ross Dickey.

Four white men were treated at hospitals and an undetermined number of Negroes were beaten and wounded in rioting which lasted through the night.

The outbreak came after a Negro criminally assaulted a young housewife who had befriended him.

Texas Rangers, Texas defense guards and OCD auxiliary police helped local officers guard the jails and maintain order.

Dickey said the situation was still tense as angry men continued milling about the downtown section early today. Asked if anyone had been killed, Dickey replied:

"I don't know yet, but I think some are fatally wounded."

He reported one hospital was overflowing with Negro casualties.

Milton Randall, a white man, was treated for shotgun wounds in the back. Gerald Williams, another white man, received a scalp wound.

Police also reported that mobs had roamed the Negro sections of the city during the night, dragging several Negroes out of their cars, whipping them and setting their cars afire. Others were reported beaten.

A posse was searching for the attacker.

The woman victim of the assault viewed one Negro brought before her, but said he was not the assailant. The mob grabbed another Negro prisoner, cuffed him, stripped him of his clothes and let him go.

Production at shipyards in Beaumont was slowed almost to a standstill as many workmen on the night shift went downtown.

"This town is in a bad shape right now," Dickey said, but he expressed confidence the situation would soon be under control.

Faces Narcotics Charge Following Arrest In Ashland

ASHLAND—Arrested after he had repeatedly returned to a pool room after being ejected, Nathan Terrell, who said he came from Charleston, W. Va., was being held today for federal authorities in Cleveland who said they wanted him on a narcotics charge.

Terrell had on his person when arrested, police said, 50 half-grain tablets of morphine, a bottle of veronal pills and a hypodermic needle outfit.

He told police he had obtained the morphine at a Medina pharmacy on a prescription written by a Medina physician.

Because the amount of the drug was unusually large, police checked with federal narcotics authorities, who said that Terrell was the object of a federal search. Officers from Cleveland were expected to come here for Terrell today. They also indicated they would check Terrell's story of obtaining the drug in Medina.

Terrell had gone to sleep in a poolroom here yesterday afternoon and insisted on returning to the place after he had been repeatedly ejected. Police said he told them he had been using drugs for about 18 years.

OPA Reveals Summer Rations To Be Increased.

With coffee stocks returning to near normal supplies in stores in Mansfield and throughout the nation, the Office of Price Administration today indicated there would be an increase in summer coffee rations.

Rationing officials are studying prospects for continued large imports with a view to determining how large to make the new individual ration, which begins July 1.

Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown, in announcing the current ration the most generous since the advent of the program last November, assured the public that it would receive the benefit of supply increases whenever they exist.

ZOOT SUITER HELD

AKRON —(AP)— A 14-year-old zoot suiter admitted stabbing a sailor at a dance hall in suburban Barberton Sunday night and will be turned over to juvenile authorities, Deputy Sheriff Robert Smith reported. The sailor was released from a hospital yesterday.

'Cigs for Yanks' Fund Will Benefit by Midnight Show

Have you bought cigarets for the boys overseas with your spare change dropped into the many jars in Mansfield business places?

If you haven't or if you have and want to give more, here is a good opportunity.

As a part of the drive to raise $2,500, or enough to buy 1,060,000 smokes for the Yanks on the fighting fronts, a benefit midnight show will be held at the Ohio theater June 30. The "cigs for Yanks" cost only five cents a pack.

Though plans are not yet complete, Mrs. J. Harvey Dickson, president of the American Legion auxiliary which is sponsoring the drive with The News-Journal, indicated today that there would be a stage show and a movie. For the stage show the auxiliary hopes to obtain some of the talent currently appearing in clubs here and local talent.

The late show is scheduled for 11 p. m. and admission charge will be 50 cents—enough to buy 200 cigarets for service men. There will be special patrons tickets from $1 up and anyone giving $50 will be recognized from the stage in addition to having his name and address put on the 1,000 packs of cigarets this amount will buy.

Plans for the show are being made by a committee made up of Mrs. Ruth Kahl, Mrs. Edith Metcalf, James F. Carrigan, Grattan Johnston, Mrs. Dickson and E. E. Mason.

Mrs. Dickson indicated today that contributions to the jars have been "very good" up to this time. Three more larger contributions have been made to the drive, $25 by the UERW Local 758; B'nai B'rith and auxiliary, $10; Volunteers of America, $5.

Allied Airmen Batter Island Around Clock

Signs Increase That Lid's About to Blow Off In Mediterranean Sector; Axis Broadcasters Predicting Invasion 'At Any Time.'

BULLETIN

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA—(INS)—Fanning out in expanding raids against Axis air power in the Mediterranean, American bombers plastered landing fields from one end of Sicily to the other in the last few hours, official spokesmen announced today.

(By United Press)

The rising tempo of air attacks on Sicily, Italian bastion which has been bombed every day and night since last Saturday, topped the increasing signs today that the lid was about to blow off in the Mediterranean theater where King George paid a surprise visit to Allied forces.

The northwest African air force threw planes of all kinds—Flying Fortresses, Wellingtons, Lightnings, Mitchells, Marauders and others—into a stepped up assault on the Axis airdromes in Sicily, strategic island separated from the toe of the Italian boot by only a two-mile water gap.

Gathering tension over the Mediterranean fed on both Allied and Axis reports of war developments expected, in progress or consummated. Invasion-jittery Axis broadcasters professed to expect an Allied blow at any time, and some Allied accounts suggested that a brew of bad medicine for the Axis might be coming to a boil.

First reports of King George's visit to North Africa failed to suggest its significance. They told merely of his inspection of Allied land, sea and air forces on his second departure from Britain during his country's four years of war.

The bombing of Sicily was intensified and put on a virtually non-stop basis by the northwest African air forces after they and supporting planes from Malta and the Middle East command had plugged repeatedly at the island following the collapse of Italian resistance in the Sicilian narrows.

Big fleets of Flying Fortresses escorted by Lightnings smashed at Sicilian air bases in daylight yesterday. They concentrated on the Bocca di Falco and Castelvetrano bases in southwestern Sicily. The airmen saw their bombs bursting in areas crowded with Axis planes, where many fires sprung up.

Mitchell and Marauder medium bombers joined the offensive with powerful attacks on the Sciacca and Borizzo air fields in southwestern Sicily, while Lightnings attacked Marsala in western Sicily. On the previous night British Wellington bombers hammered at unidentified "important airdromes" in Sicily.

Sixteen Axis planes were shot down yesterday and the night be-

CHUNGKING —(U.P.)— A Chinese military spokesman charged today that the Japanese had again used poison gas in China.

(By United Press)

Premier Hideki Tojo told the Japanese people today that signs point toward an all-out Allied counter-offensive in the Pacific and hinted that Japan already had been forced on the defensive throughout its far-flung fronts.

Addressing a special session of the Japanese diet (parliament), Tojo renewed his prediction of "sure victory" but, in the next breath, confessed that his troops face mounting Allied might in "terrific" battles.

"Alarmed by the rapidity of the development of our positions, the United States and Great Britain are attempting to check or obstruct at all costs," Tojo said.

FOREIGN LIQUOR PURCHASES OK'D

Fisher Outlines Procedure for Out-of-State Buyers.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — State Liquor Director Don A. Fisher said today that Ohioans will be permitted to purchase liquor outside the state and bring it in for their own use under a regulation which will become effective next week.

An individual importer will pay the state liquor department 60 cents for each quart, 50 cents for each fifth, and 30 cents for each pint, Fisher said. The charge is not as high as the regular state mark-up on liquor, he added.

CRASH KILLS 14

Four-Motored Bombers Collide In Air; One Survivor.

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. —(INS)— Officials from the army air base at Alamogordo today took over the investigation of the spectacular mid-air collision of two four-motored bombers, in which between 14 and 18 flyers were killed and from which one airman parachuted early today.

The bombers, both from the Alamogordo air base, collided yesterday near Ruidoso, N. M., as they flew east of their bombing range and over the Capitan mountains of the 12,000-foot Sierra Blanca range.

The bombers, one of them in flames, plunged to earth about 50 miles north of their base.

HORTENSE BACHRACH WEDS CADET HIMMEL

Rabbi Charles B. Latz, Rabbi Melbourne Harris Officiate at Wedding In Temple Emanuel; Couple Will Reside In Lexington, Ky.

N THE TEMPLE EMANUEL June 12 at 8:30 p. m., Miss Hortense Bachrach became the bride of Aviation Cadet Leonard R. Himmel of Cleveland Heights. The nuptial service was read by Rabbi Charles B. Latz of Canton and Rabbi Melbourne Harris of Cleveland. The temple was decorated with palms, fern and various white flowers.

The bride wore a white faille taffeta floor length gown styled with a sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a tiara. She carried a prayer book over which was a spray of white satin streamers and white orchids.

Miss Chirley Singer, the bride's roommate at Ohio State university was maid of honor. She wore a gown of powder blue and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Miss Thelma Reed furnished the wedding music. In her program she included "Because," "I Love You Truly," "Evening Love Song" Schubert's "Serenade" and the traditional wedding marches.

Best man for the bridegroom was his brother, Arthur Himmel.

A family dinner was served at the Mansfield-Leland hotel preceding the wedding ceremony. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the temple.

When the couple left for a wedding trip, the new Mrs. Himmel was wearing a grey tweed suit with navy accessories. She is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school. She received her B. S. degree the early part of this month from Ohio State. Dr. and Mrs. L. H Bachrach are her parents.

Before entering the armed forces, Cadet Himmel was a student at Ohio State university. His father is Harry Himmel of Cleveland.

The newly married couple will make their home in Lexington, Ky., where Cadet Himmel is stationed.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from New York city, St. Louis, Mo., Cincinnati, Elizabeth, N. J., and Cleveland.

Committees for Every Month Appointed By Club's President, Mrs. G. N. Walker; Formal Dance Will Be Given June 25.

THE COLONY CLUB, organized for newcomers to the city, with Mrs. G. N. Walker as its president, has planned a series of interesting meetings to be held during the summer months. The first of the meetings is scheduled for June 24. At that time, members will tour the Black gardens.

A formal dance to be given June 25 will have Mrs. J. P. Keith, Mrs. William Pekruhm, Mrs. J. J. Sheehy and Mrs. Donald Lathrop on the committee in charge of the event.

Mrs. Vern Hoffman, Mrs. Rex Hess, Mrs. S. K. Houston, Mrs. Paul Maxwell and Mrs. H. A. Westervelt will have charge of the July meetings. Among them will be a breakfast bridge at North Lake park and a picnic. Hostesses at the picnic will be Mrs. Marcus Brooks, Mrs. Jules Fortier and Mrs. R. A. Moss. The July 22 meeting will be in the form of a book review at the Country club.

The August committee consists of Mrs. J. A. Lewin, Mrs. C. C. Warner, Mrs. J. H. Stevens, Mrs. V. Lawrence and Mrs. J. M. Slattery. The Aug. 12 program will be in charge of the July committee. A picnic will be held for club members Aug. 21. The Aug. 26 meeting will be held at the Country club.

The last summer meeting will be held at the Country club with Mrs. G. R Deisler, Mrs. G. L. Them, Mrs. J. W. Noice, Mrs. H. R. Mustin and Mrs. H. R. Kauffman in charge. The September committee includes Mrs. Fortier, Mrs. A. Barbiere, Mrs. W. W. Lewis, Mrs R. K. Pollock and Mrs. R. A. LeFevre.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

Philip Veritzen started violent-, then exploded into vehement eech.

"He dared to try to see her, to k her to plead for him!" he id wrathfully. "It's a wonder oel didn't chastise him again!"

"That's what I'm trying to tell u," I said. "Noel didn't know at part of it. He knew only at Steve had complained to e, and he was angry enough at at. I shudder to think what he uld have done if Steve had anaged to see Mary."

"I probably would have found y only son in Homicide Court," said heavily. "I am very grateul to you for switching Steve om that track. And I shall add other black mark to the long t I have against him. But," he ded, to my great relief, "I shall nothing overt now. And if ere is nothing I can do for you, think I will go over and tell ina that she is to hold herself readiness for you."

Plans For Tomorrow.

"She doesn't need to plan anyng now," I told him. "Just tell r to relax until tomorrow morng. I will come over in the morng, or better, have her come er here."

"Very well, I will have her do at," he said, and then, with his ual formal courtesy, he took leave.

As he gave me a final bow from e corridor, Katharine suddenly unded the corner, saving herf from colliding with him only a quick side step.

"Oh, dear; I'm sorry!" she eximed as the famous impresario lected his dignity.

"It is I who should beg your rdon, my dear Katharine," he d. "Please forgive me."

"There is nothing to forgive," tharine answered. "Perhaps learn sometime, not to turn ners as if I were running a ay race."

With another bow, Veritzen nt his way, and I drew Katharine inside, thankful that he was not looking back, for I could no longer control my laughter.

"If you must broadcast Alphone and Gaston from my doorstep," I began, and Katharine giggled, a heart-warming sound to me, as it had been so long since I had heard any spontaneous merriment from her. It told me once more how great was her happiness at my father's promise of a reunion with her husband.

"There's nothing funnier in the world than a pompous, dignified man when he's in an undignified spot," she said. "He suffers, and how! But I haven't any sympathy to waste on him. I'm on fire to know whether I have to go to that Myers apartment at two tomorrow morning."

"I can ease your mind on that score, Katharine," my father's voice said from the doorway.

Startled, she whirled around to face him.

"Please don't think," she stammered, "that I'm unwilling to go."

"Don't you know better than that, my dear?" he said gently. "You're willing to do anything I ask of you, but it isn't at all necessary for you to like it. And now let me assure you that you will not have to see Ruth Hayes tonight or go near the Myers apartment."

Her breath of relief was almost a sob. But a second later, her anxiety for her husband prompted an agitated question:

"Is there any possible chance of her being able to carry out her threat of doing Jack any harm if I do not obey her summons?"

Hideaway Is Impregnable.

"I do not believe she has any dive bombers at her command," he said, "and without one, neither she nor any one else has any chance to get at Jack or Georges. The secret rooms at the hideaway are impregnable. In many of its features, in fact, the hideaway is like those old gambling houses, with well-nigh perfect protection against raids.

"So," he concluded, "you can put your mind at ease about Jack. Ruth Hayes has no power to harm him. But what her malevolence may scheme out for you two when she finds herself thwarted tomorrow morning, is something else again."

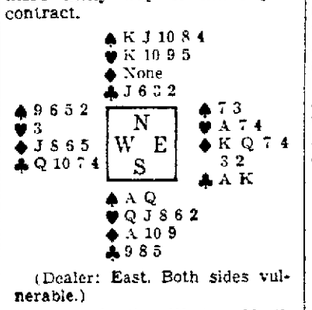
"The Authority on Authorities"

CONSIDER THEIR VIEW

Normal reactions of your opponents, in normal situations, will be about the same as yours would be. Seldom will it pay you to attempt a play which would not be likely to work if they tried it against you under similar circumstances. Consider their probable point of view before attempting something which depends upon their making a particular mistake. If you decide they probably won't fall for the bait, then try to see if you can't figure out some more likely way to make your contract.



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1 ♦	1 ♥	Pass	2 ♥
3 ♦	3 ♥	4 ♦	4 ♥

Following the diamond 5 lead, South saw that he had to lose a trick in trumps and possibly three in clubs. He decided to try to get rid of one of his clubs before the defenders had the lead. Taking the first trick with the diamond A, discarding a club from dummy, he laid down the spade A, overtook the Q with the K and led the J. That card would have made a club discard possible at once if the outstanding spades had been divided 3-3. But East ruffed with the heart 4, so South over-ruffed with the 6.

Now the diamond 10 was ruffed with the heart 5 and the spade 10 led. If East had held only one heart, or only the A and 4, this card could have brought the club discard, but East stuck in the heart 7, and the 8 over-ruffed. To dummy then went declarer with the diamond 9 to the heart 9, and the last spade, the 8, was led. East threw a diamond, South a club and West ruffed with the heart 3. Two top clubs and the heart A then set the contract.

That last spade lead was the bad one. It should have been clear to South that, with the heart A and 3 out, whoever held the 3 would ruff the trick with it—that the one with the A would not use it then. His play was hopeless.

At that stage, South should have decided his best chance was to find East holding only a doubleton club, including two of the missing top three honors — very likely in view of the bidding. If that was the case, a lead to the heart A then would have made the contract, as the club suit would have been blocked. After taking two honors, East would have had nothing left to lead but a diamond, which would have been ruffable in one of the declarer's holdings while the other discarded a club.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, June 17.

Another day of excitement, accomplishment and happiness, although there may be depression and separation. It may take form in depleted physical condition, or concern about elders or perhaps employment. All associations, both business and private may be expected to move at high tempo, with all the energies and faculties greatly stimulated for decisive action and constructive accomplishment. There is possibility of marriage, or engagements, under an acutely heightened magnetism

Those whose birthday it is may look for a highly exciting and stimulating year, with all the forces and faculties geared to high accomplishment and keen pleasure, as well. All affairs may move under high tension, even though there may be delays and obstacles. All worry and sadness may be obliterated by the outstanding joy of courtship and marriage.

A child born on this day may have great energy, magnetism, and acute faculties and constructive ability, and should shine in a glamorous career although it may have its depressing or anxious moments.

AXIS LEADERS FACE SUICIDE, ASSASSINATION

Observers' Worst Fear's That Mussolini Will Escape and Write Autobiography.

(By United Press)

LONDON—An important Allied military observer said today that when Adolf Hitler's day of reckoning comes he will be a good bet for suicide, assassination or exile.

Hitler, according to this military source, is a potential suicide because he is hysterical and mystic. But that is partly nullified by the fact that he might be more useful to his generals alive if they could persuade him to accept "martyrdom" at the hands of the Allies.

Assassination always will be a distinct possibility in view of the countless thousands he has wronged.

The military observer disagreed with OWI Director Elmer Davis that Hitler would be shot by his own generals.

"I would say that is in the nature of a delicate suggestion to the generals," he said. "I am thoroughly in favor of it but I believe it is wishful thinking rather than based on what we know of the Axis and Axis psychology."

Of Benito Mussolini's future, he had this to say:

"Probably he would commit suicide if he had the intestinal fortitude for it, or could be sure he would see the headlines in the spirit world. Actually, he'll probably surrender his country, whine all over the place about Germany deserting him in the hour of need, and retire to his place of exile where he'll wreck thousands of typewriter ribbons trying to explain away his stupidity.

"The dreariest prospect of all is that he will probably find plenty of publishers and we'll have to read a lot of his windy perorations."

Military men also made the following observations on what's in store for other Axis henchmen:

Henrich Himmler, Nazi gestapo chief—"Definitely suicide. He has burned all his bridges and can't flee anywhere in the world where relatives and friends of his victims could not reach him."

Hermann Goering—"He likes himself too much for suicide. Besides, he figures he has safely provided for himself to live comfortably in one or the other of the neutral countries. He is convinced that war guilt trials just won't take place and that you can get away with anything if it's done on a large enough scale."

Joseph Goebbels—"He has made more and bitterer enemies than the entire Nazi hierarchy. He might be killed by another Nazi when the final bar is down. The only reason he has lasted this long is Hitler's protection."

Vidkin Quisling, the Norwegian traitor—"His countrymen will handle him and it will be surprising if he lives. Latest reports indicate that he is getting moodier and depressed—an excellent preliminary to self-destruction."

Navy, Not Army Sends Out Call For More Buglers

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—(U.P.)—Jivin artists of the Harry James variety are now being sought by the Bugle School at the Naval Training station. More buglers are needed by the Navy now than ever before in history, according to Chief Bugle Master Michaux Frank Tennant, U. S. N., director of the bugle school.

"We are hard-pressed to train men fast enough to satisfy the fleet," Tennant said.

Older than the American Navy itself, the trade of bugler still holds a very important place in the United States fleet. The horn has been associated with battle since the earliest times, but changes in military conditions and tactics have only served to invest the bugle with increasing importance. Although most civilians associate the bugle only with the calls of reveille, mess and taps, the Navy men are taught 104 separate tunes during a four-months course.

"I've been in the Navy since 1910," Tennant said, "and the only real change I can see is that the bugler now uses a general speaking system to make his horn heard instead of sounding calls on each separate deck."

HEALTH OFFICER HITS 'HANGOVERS'

CHICAGO —(U.P.)—Every "hangover" these days is causing two headaches—one for the tippler and one for the U. S. A.

Deploring the time lost in war industries because of hangovers, accidents and illnesses, Charles P. Taft, Office of Defense Health and Welfare Service, called it "appalling" in an address to the Congress of Industrial Health.

Taft urged the inauguration of a nation-wide program of health and safety education for the war worker. The program, he said, would include instruction on recreation, foods, and personal service in solving home problems.

TELEPHONE 4251-6

IN THE CAPITAL-- By Raymond Clapper

LONDON—(By Wireless)—Talking with pilots and other airmen of the American Eighth Air Force, one gathers a slightly different picture of the air war from what one reads at home in books about airpower.

I came over here with the idea that the air attack on the continent was a simple matter of dumping such a great weight of bombs on war factories that eventually Germany would be unable to produce enough war goods. Then, in time, her ability to fight would dry up as a result of creeping paralysis. That might be a sufficient formula if the Allies were content to allow the war to drag on through the ages.

Clapper

Actually, I find that the smashing of targets on the ground is only one part of the American heavy bombers' mission. The other part is to draw German fighters into the air and knock them down. That is where many whom I have talked with think the emphasis should be put.

As the battle of Britain demonstrated, a nation is not defeated in modern war so long as its air force is not broken. The first requirement for the defeat of Germany is the smashing of her air force, especially her fighter force. When the German fighters are gone Germany will be ready to go, too. With her air cover removed she will then be exposed to everything. Germany is aware of this, as indicated by her shifting of production into fighter planes rather than bombers. Germany has not too much fighter margin now. Some Allied estimates give Germany only a little more than 1,000 single seater fighters.

Maj. Gen. Ira Eaker says our Eighth Air Force destroyed 359 enemy fighters last month, plus 93 more probably destroyed and 176 damaged. There probably should be a considerable discount in these figures, as it is simply impossible to eliminate all the duplicate claims. But even allowing for much shrinkage, the damage to the German fighter force is obviously large.

Air Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris says that as soon as the German fighters are knocked out of the way the British will switch to daytime bombing. Considering that the British bomb weight is far heavier than ours, that change would immensely hasten the destruction of Germany.

It has become clear that we must use bombers to get the German fighters. We send over fighter sweeps but the Germans stay on the ground. At one American fighter station I listened in by radio on a talk among some of our fighter pilots making a sweep over Belgium. One pilot said, "no customers in sight." The leader, Col. Eran Peterson, replied, "they're all eating down there and won't come up."

The Germans know we are only baiting them to come up and fight. The Nazis are trying to avoid attrition and save their fighters for use against bombers bent on destruction in Germany.

Whatever criticism can be made of our Flying Fortresses, and some are made, they have heavy fire power, which is constantly increasing. Much also lies in the training of our gunners, and I understand this is one field in which progress may be expected. American bomber missions are proving deadly to German fighters, but they would be still more effective with fighter escort, and the bomber crews hope for the day when fighters will be equipped to go in all the way with the bombers.

The biggest need in the next few months is the attrition of the German fighter force out of air, which is the equivalent to breaking the lock on fortress Europe.

FAIR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

CHICAGO—Possibly someone will say that I exaggerated or drew on my imagination in writing of the dangerous alliance between the present national government of the United States and the criminal underworld of the union rackets. Is this only my interpretation or can I prove it?

I can prove up.

Let us take the case of Joseph Newell, known as Buck Newell, of St. Louis, a gangster who was killed in a cheap family shooting on June 2. The homicide case needn't interest us. Newell was just a murderous thug, who abused his own family among others and finally got his.

Pegler

Newell was the boss of Local 513 of the Operating Engineers, a St. Louis racket and a subsidiary of the national racket whose president is William E. Maloney, a dese-dose-and-dem gorilla with home and headquarters in Chicago, and an admired friend of William Green. Maloney is a dominant figure in the unspeakably corrupt AFL organization in Chicago which is a political, moral and financial subsidiary of Ed Kelley's Chicago chapter of the party of humanity with which Harold Ickes and Harry Hopkins bargained so earnestly in 1940 to put over President Roosevelt's nomination for the third term.

After Buck Newell's death it was disclosed that he had been indicted on three counts by the local grand jury at Cape Girardeau, Mo., where recently, work was stopped for five days on the new oil pipe-line that Mr. Ickes is building with public funds, meaning your taxes and mine, to relieve the shortage of fuel oil and gasoline on the eastern seaboard. Many lives are at stake on this project because millions of Americans in the east have just lived through one very bad winter with insufficient fuel and are facing a similar shortage next winter.

One of the indictments against Newell we can throw out as being of no interest to us. It charged him with carrying on with a girl friend when he took to the road to beat up a few working stiffs But the other two indictments charged him, first, with smashing up the dining room of a hotel in Cape Girardeau and throwing crockery all over the place in assaulting a couple of pipe-line workers with intent to extend to them the benefits of the New Deal's benevolent labor policy, and, second, with starting a riot in the railroad yards at Illmo, Mo., with the same intent. In each case he had a mob of St. Louis underworld bums with him Work on the pipe-line stopped for five days

This was the third war project that this protege of the New Deal party had tied up within two years under the license and privilege extended to him by the national government But it will be observed that it was not the federal department of justice which indicted him for obstructing the pipe-line. It is no violation of the New Deal party's concept of law and the people's interest to impede the war effort if you are a licensed racketeer duly accredited by the party's criminal subsidiary.

Brother Newell never was a workman and he always was a bum, a rum-pot, saloonkeeper, gambler, muscle man and thief Nevertheless, or perhaps we should say for this reason, Brother Maloney let him have his head in Missouri and, for your further information, the mob had the gall to picket the governor of Missouri, Forrest C. Donnell, at Jefferson City, because Donnell sent a detachment of the state guard to protect the workers and expedite the job

A further fact pertinent to the corrupt relationship between the party of humanity and the criminal underworld is the recent indictment in New York City by the county grand jury, not the federal, of Rum-Dum Joe Fay, of the Jersey City or Frank Hague chapter of the party of humanity. Jersey City's representation in the U. S. congress is Mrs. Mary Norton, a female equivalent of the old fashioned Honest John of precinct politics, who is chairman of the house committee on labor. Because Mrs. Norton is known for her stalwart devotion to the party's alliance with the unioneers, the other congressmen nowadays invariably send to other committees bills which would place union racketeers under decent legal restraints.

Fay was indicted in New York on a charge of extorting more than a million dollars from contractors and workers on the Delaware aqueduct. This job was largely financed by federal money and if you were naive, you might wonder why the federal department of justice did not indict him, especially considering the facts that the case has reeked for years and that Fay's operations crossed state lines. But you are not naive so you bow to the fact that Fay runs to fires with the Jersey City auxiliary of the party which governs the United States.

Brother Fay is a vice president of Brother Maloney's union, which is by and large the most evil band of extortioners and gangsters that the U. S. A. has been victim of since the heyday of Al Capone and, for that matter, some of the old Capone mob are henchmen of the Maloney-Fay racket today.

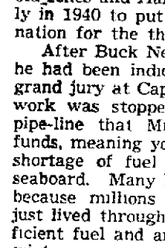
Has it ever occurred to you that almost all of the prosecutions of union criminals, even though they could have been charged with federal offenses, have been state prosecutions? Have you noticed that in all but a very few cases, the New Deal's department of justice has let them strictly alone?

This alliance between a governing party, indeed a government, of the United States and predatory criminals of the foulest kind is something absolutely new in American history

ON BROADWAY-- By Dorothy Kilgallen

This Is Worth Fighting For.

THE NICEST and most interesting people in the Broadway places these nights are soldiers and sailors in uniform—the young men who are on their way somewhere, or just back from a place further away than you've ever been. Mostly they are fine, straight young men with clear eyes and tanned faces, and no complaints at all. They have a quiet way of steering the conversation away from the war that makes you blush for being an arm-chair general; they are invariably grateful to be enjoying three days or a week or two weeks of what we have all the time.



Kilgallen

It is stimulating to talk to them and listen to them, especially if you have any connection with show business, because they are quick to demonstrate what an important part show business plays in their lives whether they are on furlough in New York or just dreaming about it in some South Pacific jungle.

Perhaps, because they are young and "hep," hey are the best audience in the world for a musical show, a swing band, a Broadway column or a radio comic. The like fun the way it is dished out in American, and when they are here they enjoy it and when they are far away they talk about it under desert stars and on the decks of hips in strange seas, and they write home about it as if to say: "Hold everything. Keep the overture playing. Keep the champagne and the beer on ice Keep the girls smiling. We'll be back—and we want it to be like the dreams we're dreaming over here."

Ask them these nights in the Broadway places and the young soldiers and sailors tell you, very willingly, what they want to come back to when the fighting is over. What they want are all familiar things—which may be why they are important to these young men, although they seem so trivial when you put them down or speak of them.

When they come back from the fighting, the fighters want fun. They want Hollywood not to take itself too seriously. They want to giggle at Bob Hope, go nuts over Hedy Lamarr, and be frightened more by Boris Karloff than they ever were by a flock of Zeros. They don't want to be reminded of their victory, because they don't want to be thinking of how much that victory cost.

He's fighting for flag and country, all right, but he's also fighting for Betty Grable and Lana Turner and the second girl from the left in the chorus line at the Ziegfeld Follies. He's letting the Japs have it for Mr. Williams at the candy store and for Jeff, his Irish terrier. He's knocking down Messerschmitts with a song on his lips—a song like "As Time Goes By," which is in the Army Hit Kit. Or maybe a song like "Black Magic," because he knows that from the short wave broadcasts and the records you're good enough to send him. Yes, he's fighting for a lot of very small things.

POLITICS HOLD SPOTLIGHT AT GOVERNOR MEET

Both Dems and Republicans Map Campaign Moves at Columbus Session.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Republican leaders today withdrew projected party conferences which would have cast a political shadow over the non-partisan 35th annual Governors conference, but Democrats planned to proceed with receptions for Democratic chief executives.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — The 35th annual Governors' Conference, a non-partisan meeting of chief executives from most of the 48 states to discuss prosecution of the war and post-war state planning, will convene here June 20-23 against a backdrop of partisan politics furnished by campaign-minded party leaders.

State executives, half Republican and half Democratic, will meet formally with leaders of the national administration, Joseph Davies, former ambassador to Russia, and spokesman for industry and labor during the four-day conference.

In the background, Harrison E. Spangler, chairman of the Republican National committee, planned "informal" chats with Republican governors to survey their part in the newly-formed Republican post-war advisory council.

Joseph T. Ferguson, Ohio state auditor and the only Democrat holding elective state office, announced that 21 of the 24 Democratic governors have accepted invitations to a "reception" the first day of the conference. He planned discussions with Democratic leaders and Administrator Prentiss M. Brown of the office of Price Administration about federal patronage.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, Chairman Paul W. McNutt of the war manpower commission, Food Administrator Chester Davis and OPA Administrator Brown will attend a Monday meeting to discuss prosecution of the war. Davies will address a state dinner Monday evening.

Republican interest in possible presidential candidates will focus attention on the host, Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, and Governors Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

As chairman of the conference, Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor of Maryland will preside at the state dinner.

C. A. CROFT DIES

Life Resident of Mansfield Taken By Death.

Charles A Croft, 56, life resident of Mansfield, and a veteran of World War I, died Tuesday at Veterans' hospital in Dayton He was admitted to the hospital one week ago.

Mr Croft was employed at the Mansfield Transfer and Storage company for many years.

He is survived by his father, John J. Croft, one sister, Mrs. George Hoffman; two step-sons Floyd and Ralph Bollinger, all of Mansfield; and one step-daughter, Mrs. Dorothy May, Millersburg.

PLIOFILM FOR GIRLS' PANTIES?

'Inventor' Faces Court For Trying To Obtain Model.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — A self-styled Cleveland inventor today awaited questioning by psychiatrists for his efforts to perfect pliofilm panties.

The mental examination was ordered by Municipal Judge Julius N. Vovachy after William R. Fraser, 46, admitted that he had attempted to hire a 17-year-old girl to model his syntheteic creation. Fraser, packer for a road machinery company, insisted that his intentions were honorable.

He was arrested after a Cleveland policewoman listened in on the proposition made to the girl.

DAVIS TARGET OF NEW STORM

Congressional Uproar Follows OWI Chief's Criticism of Capital Newsmen.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A storm of congressional criticism swirled today around Elmer Davis, chief of the Office of War Information (OWI) accused by one legislator of seeking to be a "propaganda minister."

Another lawmaker said Davis ought to be investigated

The outcry, not the first aimed at Davis since he relinquished a radio broadcasting job to take the OWI helm, arose over a speech in Boston in which Davis said Washington news coverage was inadequate.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) told the senate yesterday that Davis was "trying to silence the press to cover the sins of [illegible] administration on the part of the New Deal in the war effort." He said the newspaper reporters in Washington were to be "commended, not criticized, for their outstanding effort . . . their masterful accomplishment of a difficult task."

Bridges said Davis was objecting perhaps, because "they have uncovered some news about Washington which does not look too well outside of Washington"

Davis, addressing the American Newspaper Guild, declared that capital newsmen were overlooking the big story of the war—production—while paying attention to interdepartment bickerings

DR. SWANK DIES

Pastor Presided At Funerals of President, Mrs. Harding.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Dr. Jesse Swank, 76, who officiated at funeral services of President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding while he was a Marion pastor, died last night from infection caused by a carbuncle.

Rev. Swank was born on a farm near Quincy, Logan county. He served at 10 pastorates in Ohio.

Funeral services will be held at Springfield tomorrow and burial at Marion.

Up and Down THE STREET

Mansfield police often are asked to look for articles lost by city residents, but today they appealed to the public to help them locate a police radio antenna that is essential to the operation of the radio in one of the police cruisers. The metal rod antenna, about seven feet long, broke off and was lost on a city street. Police Chief Meade K. Bates said war priorities make it impossible to obtain another and the finder can perform a service for the city by returning the antenna to the police department.

Russell Cahall, 325 West Third street, yesterday claimed the second prize for the earliest peas in the garden contest sponsored by the Richland County Victory Garden committee Cahall's ribbon-winning entry will be displayed in the Martin hardware window. He planted his crop April 1. First prize of a dollar in war stamps was won last week by Charles Laser of Ganges for his early peas. A third prize ribbon is awaiting the next gardener to turn in his entry to County Agent George B Gansard.

Two Richland countians have seen a hunter's dream walking recently. Robert Kinsell, manager of the Matthes farm off Ashland road, was plowing a field the other day when he saw a wild doe standing not far from him. Peter Wisner, driving to work in Mansfield from Lexington, was surprised to see a young deer trot across the road in front of his car. The deer are believed to have come from Mohican park or a game reserve north of Ashland. If the animals continue to inhabit the county hunters will no longer have to trek to the north woods for deer.

'LITTLE FLOWER' FACES INQUIRY

New York Council Votes Probe of Mayor's Administration With Dems Taking Lead.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—A sweeping investigation into the entire administration of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia was voted by the New York City council today.

Moving with unusual speed the council met at 12:01 a. m., and authorized the investigation by a vote of 18 to 5.

All departments of the La Guardia administration are subject to investigation under the wide powers voted a special committee. The specific target of the councilmen was said to be the office of William B. Herlands, commissioner of investigation.

The council acted with unprecedented speed, it was said, in order to allow the committee to subpoena papers, documents and evidence that Commissioner Herlands turned over to District Attorney Frank S. Hogan in connection with the recent extortion prosecution of Milton Solomon, former Democratic deputy city controller Solomon was acquitted recently by a jury of attempting to extort money from Maurice Holt, a stirrup pump manufacturer

The investigation resolution was pushed through by Democratic members of the council The resolution was introduced at the regular council meeting yesterday but a vote was delayed on the technical grounds that the council could not consider a measure at the same session at which it was introduced To prevent any further delay the councilmen then voted to adjourn and reconvene at 12:01 a m today, when the sweeping order was adopted.

NAMED CAPTAIN

Lieut. McCabe, Husband of Former Mansfielder, Promoted.

Word was received here today that First Lieut. John M. McCabe has been advanced to the rank of captain, becoming commanding officer of an anti-tank company with the Second army now on maneuvers in Tennessee.

OHIO'S RESORTS TO BE CHECKED FOR GAS MISUSE

OPA To Halt Pleasure Driving With B and C Cards, Attorney Warns.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Resorts and other vacation grounds in Ohio and neighboring states will be placed under surveillance for the next few months to check motorists illegally using gasoline for pleasure trips, the regional Office of Price Administration announced today.

James C. Gruener, regional OPA attorney, said the region's 14 district OPA directors agreed on this plan to assure continuation of the more important transportation of workers to and from war plants "in this crucial stage of the nation's rubber program."

"We are giving vacationists fair warning at this time so they may know what to expect should they plan distant vacations," the attorney said, adding that popular fishing points in the region would be included among the places checked.

Gruener declared the OPA would seek first of all to correct abuse of B and C rations granted on an occupational basis. Present ration regulations allow only 90 miles of "free mileage" or non-essential driving per month under the basic A book, although the motorists also may hold a B or C book.

"Our aim is not to deprive the motorist of a needed vacation" Gruener asserted, "but we must keep in mind that any extra use of rubber at this time could not be justified in the light of our present rubber supplies."

Fuel rationing for motor boats likewise prevents their use for frequent, extensive trips this summer. While boat operations involve no rubber waste, they consume "the same kind of fuel used in automobiles" and gasoline now must be conserved for essential needs in the region, explained Charles H. Schreiber, regional OPU rationing executive.

Inboard motor boats are limited to a supply of 125 gallons for 90 days, while outboards are allotted only 20 gallons for the same period.

Inboards thus might make trips of 750 to 1,100 miles a season while outboards might consume their supply in four or five days. If operators use boats to fish for fun, they get no increase in allowances. If they fish for food, they may apply for larger rations.

ILLNESS FATAL

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Mansfield Provident Loan girls leave tomorrow on a train ride to Georgia where they are booked for games Friday and Saturday. So, naturally, they'll not be back for a game here Sunday.

Manager "Doc" Daugherty told me I could go along, if I could get away, but he knows I can't get away, and he probably knows that I wouldn't strengthen the team any.

But thanks, anyhow.

However, Doc realizes the team needs strengthening, after last Sunday's shutout at the hands of the Columbus Wilks Meats, and has added several players to the roster for the Georgia trip.

The hurling staff will be increased by the return of Fran Knapp and addition of Marie Evertts, and completing the battery bolstering process Mary Bessemer returns to action and Green of the Wilks team also is added.

Mary Bessemer had her oft-broken nose rebuilt during the winter, and had decided not to risk breaking it again, but Doc says she'll make the trip.

Other girls making the trip are Viola Musille, Arlene Peters, Ruth Whiteman, Ev Jocha, LaVonna Schaefer, Mary Hallabrin and Alice Iceman.

Golfer Frank Jocha is going along too, but I understand it's only for the ride. I can't picture a situation in which the girls would need him to sink a 30-foot putt.

Meanwhile the girls may be interested in the latest batting averages of the All-American Girls' softball league which show their former shortstop, Bucky Holda, clouting a neat .286. Jameson of Kenosha leads the league with .545 in 22 trips to the dish. Some sockin', sister!

The lady of my Monday column called me again yesterday, and was very pleasant about the whole thing.

She's the one, you may remember, who wanted more accurate softball scores, and less publicity about Westinghouse and more about the other teams.

"But," she says, "the girl who answered your phone must have been mistaken. I don't use that kind of language."

She was surprised when I told her that softball got much more publicity in Mansfield than in most cities.

Just for a gag I checked Monday papers from 14 Ohio cities. The News-Journal had 18½ inches on softball, including 12 in this column. The Newark Advocate had two inches. Papers from the following cities had none: Canton, Lima, Mt. Vernon, Shelby, Wooster, Ashland, Galion, Bucyrus, Fremont, Marion, Warren, Portsmouth.

THIS is a little baseball laugh that wanders around the major and minor leagues like the chocolate streak in a marble cake and winds up with a very red face for Branch Rickey, the old smoothie of the ivory markets, as well as a shot in the arm for the Phillies.

It's about the Phils' new shortstop, Charley Brewster, who speeds up the infield like high octane gas. And it fits into the diamond picture today because the good burgers of Philadelphia are still dancing in the streets over yesterday's astonishing antics, which saw the Phillies and the Athletics each win both ends of a doubleheader on the same afternoon.

Some figger filbert came up with the discovery that it's only eight years since this happened before. But one fan insists he can't recall the occasion.

Baseball men tell you Brewster is the guy who is making the Phillies run like a 16-cylinder job again, just when it began to look as if they were the same old jalopy. Anyways, they've won five of six starts since he parked his size 12's in the infield. And what makes it particularly funny is that less than seven months ago, the Brooklyn Dodgers owned Georgia Charley.

Rickey practically gave him away—and now the Bums need a short-fielder. It was so bad yesterday, in fact, that Ernie Lombardi, baseball's original gluefoot, even beat out a hit to short, as the New York Giants jolted the fading Flatbushers, 6-5. This setback sank the Brooklyns three full games out of first place in the National league, since the St. Louis Cardinals belted the Cincinnati Reds 3-1 on Harry Gumbert's two-hit hurling.

The Phils got Brewster, along with Coaker Triplett, in the three-way deal that was supposed to make a "chump" out of Owner Bill Cox. Up to then Charley had been moving around so fast his laundry didn't have a chance to catch up with him.

At Nashville last year, the folks said he really had the makings, so Rickey brought him up. But brainy Branch sent him to Milwaukee with a bundle of cash—estimated at $15,000—for Hal Peck, the two-toed outfielder. The Brewers got him just ten minutes before the draft meeting last December, and the Reds drafted him right then. The Brewers squaked—but Com-The Brewers squawked—but Commissioner Landis said the deal "stuck," and Charley's been with two clubs in ten minutes.

A few weeks ago, Cox traded Danny Litwhiler, who was doing the Phils no good, and Earl Naylor to the Cards for Triplett, Buster Adams and Dain Clay. The Reds, full up with shortstops and always looking for a fly-chaser, sent Brewster to the Phils for Clay. He's made just one error in six games and has zipped up the infield until you'd hardly recognize it. And Triplett has earned his coffee and cakes with two homers in the same half dozen games. One of them, hooked up with a triple, gave the Phils a 6-4 decision over Boston in their opener yesterday. Ronny Northey hit for the jackpot once in each game and the Phils took the nightcap 2-1 which boosted them into fifth place in the league.

Meantime, making it Philadelphia's biggest day since Billy Penn got together with the Indians, the A's socked the Red Sox 7-4 and 4-2, with Dick Siebert sending in four runs in the opener and Jesse Flores flipping his eighth win of the year in the afterpiece.

The Yankees went four full games out in front in the American league by whipping Washington 9-5 with a seven-run spree in the eighth frame of a night game. In the other after-dark outing—Detroit and Cleveland were rained out—the St. Louis Browns belted the Chicago White Sox 5-2 as the American league batting leader, Vern Stephens, collected a homer and a single. Incidentally, the National league hitting race was taken over by Harry Walker of the Cards, who connected safely in his 22nd straight game.

Truett Sewell served up a steady nine-hitter to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-2 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

Vandy Hurls Against Cards

Red Errors Drop Them 7 Games Off Pace.

ST. LOUIS —(AP)— Five years and a day after he hurled the second of the consecutive no-hit games that skyrocketed him into baseball's hall of fame, Johnny Vander Meer, older, wiser, married and a prospective naval officer, awaited today a call to try to narrow the 7-game gap separating the Cincinnati Reds from the St. Louis Cardinals.

In the midst of a rather rocky season, with five victories credited to him and as many defeats charged against him, Vander Meer will face the Cardinals' young mound ace, Howard Pollet, in a night game. Pollet, also winner of five games, has lost but one this year.

* * *

St. Louis stretched its lead over the third-place Reds to seven games yesterday with the aid of mistakes by Manager McKechnie's hirelings. Rightfielder Max Marshall's misjudgment of a line drive in the sixth inning enabled the Cards to tie the score at 1-1 and to cinch a 3-1 victory in the seventh despite a four-hit performance by Bucky Walters who, until Walker Cooper's game-winning two-run single, pitched himself out of trouble repeatedly. Even so he did not match the two-hit masterpiece turned in by Harry Gumbert.

The Reds actually touched Gumbert for three hits but Eddie Miller, after hitting safely to left, neglected to tag first as he sped to second when Deb Garms fumbled the fall and the single was erased when Garms whipped the ball to first baseman Sanders for the putout.

Ask Permission To Merge Teams

CHICAGO —(INS)— Elmer Layden, commissioner of professional football, received today the official request of the Pittsburgh Steelers and the Philadelphia Eagles for permission to merge for the duration.

It was no surprise to Layden for Art Rooney, co-owner of the Steelers, some time ago said he was planning on combining the two clubs and suggested that some other teams in the National Football league might want to do the same.

If there are no further casualties, favorite action on the Pittsburgh-Philadelphia request will leave the pro league with an eight-team set-up, the Cleveland Rams already having received permission to drop out for the 1943 season.

* * *

Executives of the Pittsburgh and Philadelphia clubs, in petitioning for the merger, said they plan to split the home schedule between the two cities; split all profits equally; share the expenses equally, and install Walt Riesling of the Steelers and Earl "Greasy" Neale, Philadelphia mentor, as co-coaches.

Hi Fellow, driven by Havens, accounted for the featured Hotel Harding stake in straight heats over four rivals.

Gabe Cartnal, veteran reinsman from Hanover, O., piloted both ends of the daily double. He accounted for the first half with the King, the 1-to-2 favorite, and copped the second portion with the Walnut Abbey, a 5 to 2 choice.

Lt. Bill Harmon, brother of Michigan's Tom, is at Cochran army air field. Bill was former captain and all-conference forward at Tulane, Bill played on the Cochran team which won the Georgia championship tournament. Team-mates at Cochran included Pfc. Dan McGillicuddy, ex-Fordham cage captain; Cpl. Dock Lee, formerly of Kate Smith's Celtics; Lt. Pete Holcombe, ex-Presbyterian college star, and Cpl. Sam Schneider and Pfc. Al Benson, former pro basketball notables.

Nova Still Dreams Of Fistic Peaks

CHICAGO—(INS)—Lou Nova, Van Nuys, Cal., heavyweight, in Chicago today to prepare for his June 28 bout with Lee Savold of Des Moines in Wrigley Field, expressed confidence of victory and a hope it would lead to a re-match with Champion Joe Louis.

Nova, once knocked out by Louis in the sixth round, admitted the Brown Bomber is a "great champion," but said he felt sure he could beat him if they meet again.

The California heavyweight, famed for his "cosmic punch," also lost to Savold in their previous encounter at Washington, D. C., after Savold opened up a cut on Nova's eye with an accidental butt.

"World's fastest human," Hal Davis of California, romps away with the 100-yard dash at the recent N. C. A. A. event at Evanston, Ill., and expects to repeat this week-end in the National A. A. U. event in New York. Davis, also winner of the 220, is the sprinter out in front here.

Robinson Replys to Spring Practice Ban Criticism

CANTON—(AP)—Coach Jim Robinson of Canton Lehman high today came to the defense of his resolution calling for abolition of spring football practice, a measure which was adopted at a recent meeting of the Ohio High School Coaches' association in Columbus and later attacked by Coach Chuck McClain of Bridgeport.

McClain charged that the resolution was "railroaded" and that 200 coaches did not vote on it. The proposition was approved 75 to 26 but McClain claimed dissenting mentors did not care to object because "Lieut. Gov. Paul Herbert and President Bevis of Ohio State University were at the session and it didn't seem fitting to 'raise a rumpus' in front of them, especially since they were guests."

Coach Robinson, former president of the association, today declared the resolution was not "railroaded."

"It's true we didn't have much time to discuss it," he said, "as the dinner and speaking program required most of the time we were allotted before going to the annual spring football game staged by Ohio State.

"However, it doesn't take any longer to vote no than it does to saye yes. Those coaches who didn't vote evidently didn't care one way or the other. Mr. Herbert and Mr. Bevis left the meeting room before we started our business session. Regardless, I see nothing wrong with an open discussion on a resolution, no matter who is present. After all, we have but one business meeting a year and it is only proper that we should 'lay our cards on the table.'"

Answering Coach McClain's charge that: "It looks to me as if some of the coaches just don't want to work in the spring and don't want to play against fellows who do; so they are trying to get spring practice banned everywhere," Robinson retorted.

"Now I ask you, who works harder. The coaches who have nothing but spring football or those who have track, tennis, baseball or golf, in addition to football on their spring schedule?

"In introducing the resolution, I felt that if we dropped spring football we could devote more time to other sports, which usually are disrupted by football practice because there are always a number of grid players who compete in other athletics. And we certainly should concentrate on the athletics which benefit the greatest number of athletes, especially in wartime.

"Besides not too much is accomplished by spring football. The boys do get used to contact work and have time to recover from injuries before fall practice rolls around. But, as far as actual plays are concerned more can be accomplished by starting drills two weeks earlier in the fall. Then, too, the Ohio rules are such that we can practice until Dec. 1 or for about two weeks after the season ends."

Coach Robinson also denied the coaches were trying to "beat our principals to the punch."

"I understood the principals, who have the final say in such matters, favor abandonment of spring practice and thought that we were in order by putting our own feelings on record so they would know how we stand officially as a state-wide group."

Colonels Get Six Shut Outs

Cellar Dwellers Lead In Whitewash Wins.

(By Associated Press)

St. Paul, the American Association's leading exponent of the shutout victory, soon may have to share this distinction—and with none other than last place Louisville.

The cellar-dwelling Colonels have won only three of their last 11 games, but two were shutout triumphs—and both over St. Paul. This boosted their season's total to six. St. Paul leads the way with eight.

Emmett O'Neill, a righthander, turned in No. 6 for Louisville last night, blanking St. Paul 5 to 0 with two hits in the seven inning first game of a double bill. It was his second shutout victory.

* * *

Floyd Speer, who has pitched three of St. Paul's whitewash triumphs, squared things in the second game, as the Saints won, 10 to 4.

The pennant race meantime, continued to tighten. Minneapolis and Milwaukee, tied for second place, both won yesterday and advanced to within two and a half games of first place

The Millers hammered three pitchers of the lague-leading Indianapolis club for 17 hits and a 12 to 3 decision. Milwaukee defeated Toledo, 7 to 3, breaking a tie in the seventh inning with a four run outburst that was sparked by Bill Norman's three run homer.

The big seventh inning also brought the departure of Base Umpire Jim Boyer. He was hit in the head by a ball thrown in practice and had to be helped off the field. A preliminary examination disclosed no fracture.

* * *

Columbus, although idle because of a postponement at Kansas City, took over undisputed fourth place yesterday when Toledo lost. The two had been tied for that position.

This Game Costs Money

$82,500 In War Bonds Compiled on Records.

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— Probably the most interesting of all sports efforts to sell war bonds is the play-as-you-go method started yesterday by the three metropolitan major league ball clubs.

The first day of converting base hits and pitching victories into bonds among the Dodgers, Giants and Yankees resulted in a total purchase of $115,000. This process will be continued throughout the season and is expected to provide about $15,000,000 worth of bonds.

The Giants furnished the largest contribution yesterday—$82,500—with their 6-5 victory over Brooklyn. The Dodgers registered $15,000 and the Yanks accounted for $17,500 while beating Washington, 9-5, last night.

These bond purchases are not made by the players nor the clubs, but by groups of fans (chiefly business organizations) who "own" favorite players. Arky Vaughan of the Dodgers, for example, is "owned" by the Esso Marketers. Arky collected three singles yesterday, requiring his "owners" to buy $7,500 worth of bonds.

Each time one of the bond players singles, it costs his backers a $2,500 bond. A double is worth $5,000; a triple $7,500 and a home run $10,000. A pitching victory costs the hurler's supporters $35,000, except for a shutout. Then the cost is $50,000.

The fans obtained "ownerships" of their favorite performers on June 8, when 12 Yankees, 12 Giants and 13 Dodgers were "auctioned off" to the highest bidders at a luncheon of the Baseball War Bond league. Pledges of bond purchases totalling $123,850,000 were given. Dixie Walker of the Dodgers drew the highest bid, $11,250,000. Each bidder-group will back its idol throughout the season.

The Giants rang up $82,500 yesterday because their "owned" players did well. Buster Maynard, Billy Jurges and Mel Ott hit home runs. Ott also contributed a double. Ernie Lombardi singled and doubled, while Mickey Witek and Dick Bartell singled. But the biggest sale was registered via Ace Adams' pitching victory, which cost his backers $35,000.

This campaign, directed by the treasury department and the Baseball Writers association, certainly is a bell-ringer because it: (1) Provides for the daily purchase of bonds; (2) Provides for the daily mention of the bond drive on the sports pages, and (3) Creates baseball enthusiasm among the "owning" fan-groups and their friends.

We hope the idea will be adopted soon in all other major league cities; and we know of no reason why it wouldn't work in the minor circuit cities.

JOHNNY PODGAJNY GOES TO PITTSBURGH CLUB

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Bespectacled Johnny Podgajny, who likes nothing better than pitching against the Chicago Cubs, leaves the Phillies today for the Pittsburgh Pirates—who meet Chicago tonight.

The even-up exchange of the 22-year-old righthander from Chester, Pa., for 29-year-old Lloyd Arthur Dietz, who has won none and lost three for Pittsburgh this season, was announced a few hours before the trading deadline last midnight. Dietz also pitches right handed.

Ocean Wave Preps For Race Classics

CHICAGO —(INS)— Ocean Wave, the three-year-old son of Blenheim II, was at Washington Park today, ready to work out in preparation for appearances in the Arlington classic and the American derby where he will challenge Count Fleet.

The thoroughbred delivered some spectacular performances in preparation for the Kentucky derby, but in his last tuneup performance—the Derby trial—he injured a foot, forcing his withdrawal from the big show.

He hasn't raced since, but trainer Ben Jones said his horse will be ready for the 67-day meeting which opens Monday at the Washington Park plant.

* * *

Whirlaway, leading money winner, is scheduled to arrive today in another shipment of Calumet Farm horses. He will campaign in three $50,000 events, the Stars and Stripes, the Classic and the American Derby, the Park announced.

SEGURA STILL SETS PACE IN TOURNEY

MONTCLAIR, N. J. — (U.P.) — Francisco (Pancho) Segura, fiery little South American tennis star of Miami, led the cream of the college players into the quarter finals of the 74th annual Eastern Collegiate championships here today.

Segura, fourth ranking player in the nation, advanced with a 6-9, 6-2 triumph over Herb Graybill of Penn State.

Sports Board Formed

McNutt Expected To Announce Committee.

By JEWEL SPANGLER

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt is expected to announce today formation of a new sports committee which is believed to be the government's answer to recent demands for a wartime sports co-ordinator.

* * *

The group will be known as the National Physical Fitness committee, but is expected to be charged with the power to recommend continuance or discontinuance of professional sports.

The committee will be composed of sportsmen, army and navy representatives and government officials. Inclusion of the armed services hinted that it might be a move to eliminate the differences between the army and navy on athletic policy. The navy permits its college students to participate in sports.

The first meeting of the committee will be today, after which McNutt is expected to announce its formation and future plans. John Kelly of the physical fitness division of FSA and a well-known former Olympic oarsman will head the group.

Among its members will be L. Griffith of the Big 10 conference; George Trautman, president of the American Association; Asa Bushnell, president of the Eastern Intercollegiate association; Lt. Cmdr. Frank H. Hickhorst, director of physical fitness for the navy air service; Col. L. G. Rountree, director of physical fitness for selective service, Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune.

The new committee will function as an advisory and promotional organization. It will meet once a quarter and work with the physical fitness division of the FSA.

In addition to deciding the advisability of holding football and baseball games in war time, physical training in schools and colleges and other educational institutions will come within the group's scope.

Physical fitness has been recognized for some time as one of the vital problems of a country at war, and has been pointed out by President Roosevelt as one of the situations needing attention.

Pacific Coast League Split

Rose Bowl Contest Hinges on Success.

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— The Pacific Coast Conference 10-member football circuit was split in two sections today because of wartime travel restrictions, with the possibility that Stanford university, long-time strong member, might not even have a team.

And the fate of the annual New Year's Rose Bowl classic at Pasadena admittedly hinges on whether the season will be carried to a successful conclusion.

Conference representatives, adopting what was described as "the only solution," at their meeting last night approved the split schedule to reduce the travel of football teams to a minimum.

A semi- round robin series will be played between the four southern members of the conference, Stanford, California, Southern California and the University of California at Los Angeles.

The winner will meet the winner of the Northern section for the conference title. The northern group includes the Universities of Washington and Oregon, Washington State college and Oregon State college, and the Universities of Idaho and Montana.

But, unless army regulations are relaxed, graduate Manager Alfred R. Masters of Stanford said it was possible his school would not field a footbal squad. Stanford felt it could carry on if reservists were allowed to participate in the sport, but such action has been opposed by army heads for players in the schools in which it has established training centers.

She Earned It.

Barbara Stanwyck is recognized as one of Hollywood's top performers. But she didn't attain her present rating the easy way. Born Ruby Stevens, in Brooklyn, her mother died when she was four years old, leaving her an orphan. She was raised by an older sister, and as a child did dozens of odd jobs after school to earn a little money. She took her first theatrical job at 15. Her break came when she was dancing in a floor show in New York. Among the audience was Willard Mack, playwright, who immediately spotted Barbara as a future star. He gave her a role in his play, "The Noose" and it was during this play that she became Barbara Stanwyck. She is currently seen in "Lady of Burlesque," now at the Ohio.

At Madison.

The story of men who deliver the nitroglycerine for defense—their narrow escapes and their courage—are seen in Paramount's "High Explosive," which opens today at the Madison. Chester Morris, Jean Parker and Barry Sullivan are starred. The plot revolves around the rivalry of Morris and Sullivan for Miss Parker, who works as secretary to Sullivan in his nitro concern. "The Postman Didn't Ring," co-attraction, imagines the sudden recovery of a mail bag missing 50 years and then focuses the camera on a postal inspector as he distributes the missives among the heirs of the intended recipients.

City of Silent Men.

"City of Silent Men," which opens tomorrow at the Ritz, is the story of the fight made by a group of ex-convicts to rehabilitate themselves in society by doing an honest job in a small American community. The mayor of this small town, Lansdale, sets up Frank Albertson and Emmett Lynn, two ex-convicts, to run a cannery, bringing in ex-convicts, of worthy character to work. But many of the citizens are against having "criminals" enter their community. Other Ritz film is "Riders of the Rio Grande."

Bambi.

For the first time in his career, Walt Disney has filmed a current best-selling novel in the creation of his new feature length comedy drama, "Bambi." It is the story of romance and adventure told through the medium of animals living in a forest. The picture has been in production for five years, having been started before "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Other Park picture is "Underground Agent."

RESOLUTION NO. 43 87

By Mr. Kyle·

Declaring it necessary to improve portions of Mansfield City streets described as follows· Being that portion of State Highway No 202 which is Park Avenue West from Westpark Drive to Linden Road, that portion of State Highway No 334 which is South Main Street from South Park Street to Lexington Avenue intersection and thence southwest on Lexington Avenue to the City corporation limits at Cook Road, that portion of State Highway No 338 which is South Main Street from Lexington Avenue intersection to the City corporation limits that portion of State Highway No. 114 which is Marion Avenue from Glessner Avenue to the corporation limits and Cline Avenue intersection. Said improvement shall be by resurfacing with asphalt together with necessary foundation repairs and also the widening and paving of street at intersection of Lexington Avenue and South Main Street as per plans now on file with the City Engineer.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MANSFIELD, STATE OF OHIO. Three-fourths of all members elected thereto concurring

Section 1· That it is necessary to improve portion of State Highway No 202 which is Park Avenue West from Westpark Drive to Linden Road, that portion of State Highway No. 334 which is South Main Street from South Park Street to Lexington Avenue intersection and thence southwest on Lexington to the City corporation limits at Cook Road that portion of State Highway No 338 which is South Main Street from Lexington Avenue intersection to the City corporation limits, that portion of State Highway No. 114 which is Marion Avenue from Glessner Avenue to the corporation limits and Cline Avenue intersection, by resurfacing with asphalt together with necessary foundation repairs and also the widening and paving of street at intersection of Lexington Avenue and South Main Street as per plans now on file with the City Engineer.

Section 2 That the plans specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvements heretofore prepared as here described and now on file in the office of the City Engineer, be and the same are hereby approved.

Section 3· That the total estimated cost of said improvements shall be $75 000 00 which includes serving notices, interest additions, engineering, interest on notes and bonds issued etc as well as the improving work itself; and that of said total cost of improvement the sum of $44,000.00 shall be paid by the State and $31.-000 00 inclusive of all preliminary contingencies and other incidental expenses including therein the cost of adjusting man-hole and water valve castings to grade shall be paid as the City portion of said improvement. In addition the City agrees to supply and pay for the necessary right-of-way for widening on State Highway No. 334

Section 4. That of the total estimated City portion of improvement in the sum of $31 000.00, the sum of $12,100 00 shall be assessed by the benefit plan upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting the proposed improvement, which lots and lands are, hereby determined to be specially benefited by said improvements.

Section 5 That the assessments to be levied shall be paid in 3 annual installments with interest on the deferred payments at the same rates as shall be borne by the bonds issued is anticipation of the collection therefore, provided that the owners of any property assessed may at his option pay such assessment in cash within 30 days after passing of the assessing ordinance.

Section 6· That the bond of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments in an amount equal thereto.

Section 7: That this resolution shall take effect and be in full force and effect from and after the earliest period allowable by law.

Passed June 7, 1943.
Signed HOWARD G. MILLER,
President of Council.
Attest R. R. BLACK.
Approved W. J LOCKE.

LOAN COST REDUCED
ON ALL LOANS ABOVE $150
— EFFECTIVE AT ONCE —

This new loan rate offers worthwhile savings to those whose budgets have been upset by the June income tax installment. Now is the deal time to clear up all those scattered bills that have troubled you. With only one place to pay, you can organize your way out of debt on an orderly repayment schedule adjusted to fit your purse. Of course, we make small loans too. For instance, $20 for 30 days costs only 60c. But if you need as much as $200, $300, or even $450 or more, remember Interstate's new rate offers you a real reduction on your loan cost. "While you wait" service to those who phone ahead or present proper Borrow at Household without fuss or bother on your salary, furniture or car—without endorsers. Pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Example: a $50 loan repaid in 6 monthly instalments of $9 24 each costs $3 44 but if repaid in one month costs only $1 50. Payments include charges at Household's rate of 3% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100 but not exceeding $300, and ½% per month on any remainder.

RAILS LEAD IN UPWARD SWING BY STOCK MART

Liquidation Driblets Hold Advance Down To Less Than Full Point.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Rails marked an upturn in the stock market today and leading issues improved mildly in a continuation of Tuesday's recovery trend.

Driblets of liquidation were noted at times, however, and progress toward the fourth hour was confined generally to fractions with gains of more than a point scarce. Dealings were slow at intervals with occasional flurries.

Supported were Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, International Harvester, United Aircraft, Anaconda, American Smelting, Air Reduction, Westinghouse, General Electric, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical and Johns-Manville.

Rail bonds were higher and commodities were mixed.

Ahead in the Curb were United Gas, Phoenix Securities, American Gas & Electric and Arkansas Natural Gas "A."

CHICAGO—(AP)—Wheat paced a moderate upturn in grains today. Pessimistic reports on the condition of Canadian crops, plus strength in the bread cereal at Winnipeg, brought buying into the local market.

Wheat started unchanged to ¼ higher, July $1.44⅛, September $1.44 to $1.44⅛, and then advanced further. Rye was ¼ lower to ⅛ higher at the opening, July 97⅞.

MOBILE BAKERY FOLLOWS ARMY

ATLANTA, Ga. — (INS) — A new field baking unit, which can be erected and in operation within half an hour, and which is capable of making a day's bread supply for 4,000 troops has been put in Army service, it was disclosed by the Quartermaster Branch, Headquarters Fourth Service command.

The unit consists of two ovens and a motor-driven mixer and can be transported on any standard Army truck or carried short distances by four soldiers. The equipment is operated by experts especially trained in its use and that of its accessories, such as fermentation cans, racks, tables and scales.

The new device saves about 50 per cent of the labor formerly involved in baking, as well as considerable time. It can be assembled in the field with only one tool. Three types of fuel—gasoline, coal or wood—can be used.

SUSPENDS CHIEF

CONNEAUT —(U.P.)— Mayor Edward Kane today suspended Kenneth Pounds, Conneaut chief of police for seven years, for 10 days on charges of "conduct unbecoming an officer." The suspension, without pay, is effective until June 26.

Kane said he issued the suspension order after Pounds allegedly ordered several citizens from his office after they had called with complaints.

ENGINEERS TO PICK SITE FOR AIRPORT SOON

CAA Officials Say They'll Be In Mansfield Within Two Weeks For Conference.

tions in excess of the $600,000 may be made to help develop the project.

Mayor Locke said he would call council into session to act on the airport agreement with the government as soon as the land requirements are presented to the city by the CAA and a site is chosen.

He said he probably would discuss financing of the project with council's finance committee which is scheduled to meet Thursday night to work on the city operating budget for 1944.

After the CAA engineers have designated the land they want, the city will get an estimate of what will be needed to purchase it and set up a financing plan, the mayor said.

Following purchase and approval of the land, CAA will prepare plans for the work and let the contract for construction which will not begin until next year, Howell said today.

The CAA engineer in Columbus told The News-Journal that the Mansfield project is a part of the war program and the work has been designated by the government as "necessary for national defense."

City council's biggest task in getting the project under way will be finding funds to buy land for the big airport. Mayor Locke said he believed it would be possible to issue bonds within the 10-mill limitation if the city finds it can't transfer enough funds to finance the purchase.

The mayor said some definite expression from the CAA officials as to whether the $600,000 is the final allocation or more may be expected would help council and city officials in setting up a financial program for the airport.

"The project we have in mind is going to require more than $600,000, and we would like to know whether there is any likelihood of obtaining more government money for the work before we plan a long-range airport program," Mayor Locke said.

Howell said in Columbus today that the CAA is interested now only in getting the $600,000 project under way and he was unable to say whether Mansfield will get any more government funds for the job.

"We will let the contract on the basis of a $600,000 expenditure," he said. "If it is found the work can't be done for that amount, then it will be up to the government to determine whether additional funds will be set up for the project."

Mayor Locke said he would write today to the CAA Chicago headquarters to ask for more definite plans for the project so he can put the project before council.

Lentz took his master of arts degree at Oberlin college in 1939.

ARMY ONCE HAD RANK OF ENSIGN

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — (INS) — Ensign commissions in the United States have not always been limited to the Navy and Coast guard.

At one time ensignships were given Army men.

Sam Edelstein, Chattanooga businessman, learned this bit of military history when he found a sheepskin in an old safe, a scroll commissioning Joseph A. Martin an ensign in the 24th Regiment of the infantry during James Madison's administration. Signed by the president, it was dated April 1, 1816.

BLIND WORKER DONATES BLOOD

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Out at the big Curtiss-Wright Navy warplane factory, James Black builds dive bombers and buys war bonds regularly, but he isn't content to stop there in helping to defeat the Axis.

Black is blind, which makes his contribution all the more remarkable. He has just given his sixth pint of blood to the service of his country, and he plans to give a pint every eight weeks.

"It's a small thing to do for the country that has been so good to me," he said. Not long ago he had to depend upon the haphazard earnings of a roving accordionist.

Although sightless, Black has learned to put together eight kinds of assemblies. He is a native of Clyde.

NIKE FEROCITY OF ATTACKS ON SICILY'S BASES

Allied Airmen Bomb Island Around Clock; Axis Gets Set For Invasion.

fore, and seven Allied craft were lost.

Meanwhile Axis propagandists said Allied preparations for an invasion of Sicily appeared to be nearing completion. Premier Benito Mussolini's newspaper spoke of the arrival of Italy's "fateful hour" in which the only choice was "victory or death." A radio commentator sounded the cry: "Stand by for invasion."

Spanish sources near Gibraltar said an Allied convoy of 25 merchantmen, a battleship and an aircraft carrier arrived at the British base from the Mediterranean.

The air offensive against western Europe dwindled further. British medium bombers and fighter-bombers took it over by night, blasting and gunning German railroad and water transport in France, Belgium and Holland.

Berlin reported that many cities in the Rhineland and Ruhr still were smouldering from the pounding they took over the week-end. Some cities were reported without gas, electricity and transport. The London Daily Mail in a dispatch from the German frontier said mass evacuations had begun from the Ruhr, Rhineland and Hamburg areas.

Fortresses Cost Nazis 6 Planes Each

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Axis is losing six planes for every American four-engined bomber shot down over Europe, the war department says, and this sign of intensified air combat placed new emphasis today on Prime Minister Churchill's remark that bombing Germany out of the war was well worth trying.

The stepped-up tempo of the Eighth U. S. Air Force, operating out of England—prompted the department yesterday to the unusual—an announcement of its accomplishments in recent weeks. It was the first statement of this kind issued by the war department since the United States entered the global conflict.

Russians Gain In Heavy Fighting

MOSCOW — (U.P.) — Fair-sized Russian attacks north of Orel have carried across a strategic river barrier and penetrated German defenses to a considerable depth in some of the heaviest fighting of the summer on the Russian front, field dispatches said today.

A battle of indeterminate scope and possibilities was reported raging through its third day near Mtsensk, 30 miles northeast of Orel. Russian assault forces which wedged deep into the German positions were said to have held all their gains against determined counter-attacks.

(The dispatch gave the first Russian confirmation to Berlin radio reports of the last several days that the Red army was attacking in some strength in the Orel sector and conceding it some measure of success.)

Execute 70 Yugoslav Hostages For Blasts

LONDON —(U.P.)— German and Bulgarian authorities executed 70 persons in reprisal for the dynamiting by Yugoslav guerrillas, of the narrow strip channel on the Danube river, blocking Nazi river traffic, a Yugoslav spokesman said today.

The victims were drawn from Negotina, two miles east of the channel and neighboring villages, according to the spokesman, further executions were threatened.

The spokesman said the guerrillas from Gen. Draja Mikhailovitch's forces blasted an overhanging cliff into the narrow Danube channel, wrecked a towing engine and sections of track.

French Committee In Crucial Session

ALGIERS — (INS) — A crucial showdown meeting today of the French committee of national liberation was scheduled to act on the dispute between its co-chairmen, Gen. Charles De Gaulle and Gen. Henri Giraud, over the reorganization of the United French fighting forces.

Gen. De Gaulle, who summoned today's meeting, was expected to preside and to renew his demand for a large-scale purge of the army's leadership in the field and to introduce a motion requesting for himself the portfolio of minister of war.

He also was expected to insist that he be permitted to act as sole final authority on French civilian affairs, and to argue that the dual presidency of the liberation committee was cumbersome and impractical.

a solid mas sof tanned, dripping men.

Suddenly the excited hum of conversation was hushed. The men began singing as though at a signal from an invisible leader. They sang "God Save Our King" and you could see they meant it.

The moment that the anthem ended the king turned and came down the steps on to the beach itself. That was not part of the schedule and it caught his aides so by surprise that he almost got away from them.

The king walked down into the center of the crowd and stood talking with those nearest him. They sang another song then, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

There were a large number of French civilians present. They cried "Vive Le Roi."

Two old Frenchmen looked at each other and one said:

"It has been a long time since I've said those words."

(Ralph Howard, NBC reporter in North Africa, broadcast that the king "was favorably impressed" with the review and exhibition of commando tactics staged, in his honor by the Fifth American army.

(After the exhibition, Howard said, the king visited an American military cemetery at Oran, overlooking the Mediterranean, and paid his respects to American soldiers who had fallen in battle.)

King Travels In Churchill's Plane

LONDON —(U.P.)— King George VI flew to North Africa last Friday night in the four-engined plane that Prime Minister Churchill used two weeks earlier on his return from the United States by way of North Africa, the Exchange Telegraph agency reported from Algiers today.

The king's plane arrived at 8 a. m. Saturday.

"I stood at the airfield and watched the great plane circle without the least idea of the distinguished passenger aboard," the agency's correspondent wrote.

"There were only a few mechanics on the field and three of them walked out to signal the plane where to stop. They had the greatest surprise of their lives when the king, wearing the uniform of a field marshal, stepped out."

The correspondent said that he had arrived at Algiers only 30 minutes earlier after a flight in perfect weather. He reported that the king was in excellent spirits when he chatted with officers.

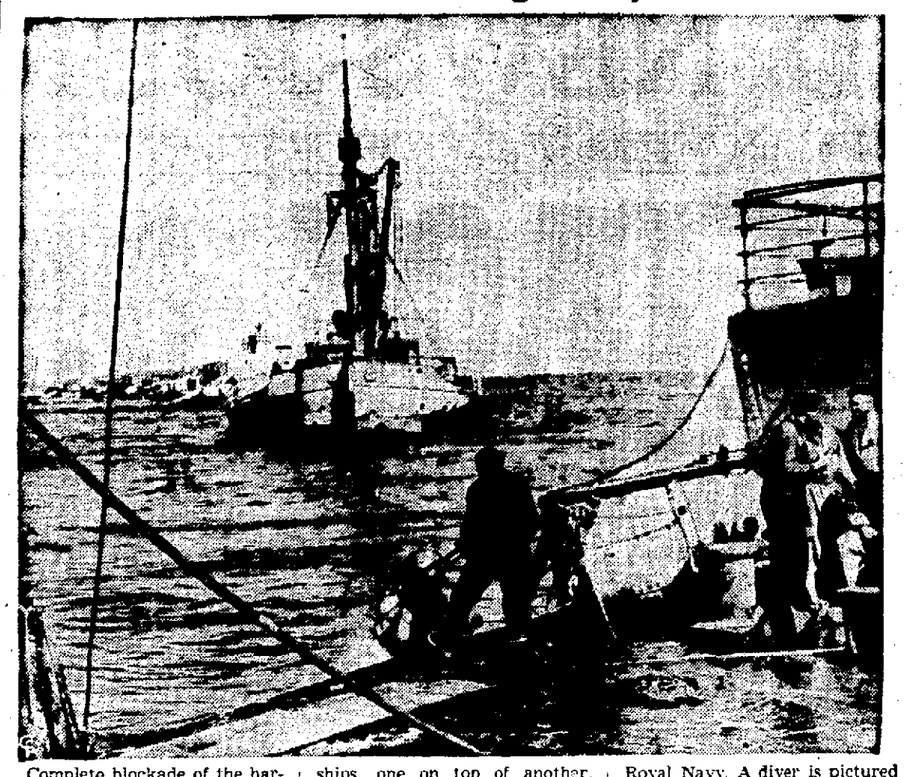
British Clear Path Through Tripoli Blockade



Complete blockade of the harbor of Tripoli was accomplished by Axis forces before their withdrawal by scuttling dozens of ships, one on top of another, across the harbor entrance. The task of clearing a passage now has been completed by the Royal Navy. A diver is pictured above coming up from the bottom where he was working to clear the obstructions.

of making further offensives by mobilizing their entire material force which is their full reliance. But these are the things that Japan has naturally foreseen."

Tying his country anew to the success or failure of the Rome-Berlin Axis, Tojo expressed confidence of victory for his European partners and charged the United Nations with "disturbing the peace everywhere in the world and endeavoring to force neutral powers into the war."

"Japan," he said, "pledges itself to fight it through to the common victory shoulder to shoulder with Germany, Italy and their allies by drawing closer together and mutually extending aid and assistance."

Japs Plane Losses For Area Hit 1,337

ADVANCED SOUTH PACIFIC BASE —(UP)— Military authorities announced today that 69 Japanese planes were destroyed in this area in the first two weeks of June, raising the total bag since July 31, 1942, to 1,337.

The figures were based on official reports. This drastic reduction of Japanese aerial strength was credited to land and carrier based planes plus ship and shore anti-aircraft batteries.

United Nations and Allied losses were not mentioned in the statement, which dealt with the period beginning just before the invasion of the Solomons up to the present.

Allies Set Rabaul Airdrome Ablaze

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA—(AP)—Fires which could be seen 60 miles away and a series of violent explosions were started among Japanese planes on Lakunai airdrome, Rabaul, New Britain, yesterday by 23 tons of Allied bombs.

Increasing to 135 tons the bomb weight to fall on Rabaul's airfields during four raids made within six days, 19 Liberators joined in the latest attack and all got home safely after weathering intense anti-aircraft fire and the weak opposition of seven enemy night fighters.

(Rabaul, on the extreme northern tip of New Britain, is second only to Truk as both an air and shipping base of the enemy. Recently Charles H. McMurtry, Associated Press war correspondent at Honolulu, wrote concerning possible military strategy in the southwest Pacific that Rabaul might well become the next Allied major objective, pointing out that its seizure would bypass Japanese holdings between it and Allied-held Guadalcanal in the Solomons.)

Ex-Servicemen In New Zealand Donate Trophy

AUCKLAND, N. Z.—(U.P.)—Disabled New Zealand ex-servicemen from this war are showing their appreciation and admiration for their comrades-in-arms in many theaters of conflict—the soldiers, sailors, and marines of the United States—in a unique way.

The Kiwi trophy, made from native paua shell, will shortly be presented in Wellington to a high American authority who will receive it on behalf of the president of the United States.

When Peter Fraser, New Zealand's Prime Minister, was last in Washington, he made arrangements to have the trophy competed for annually in the American servicemen's baseball contests. Fraser also arranged that a portion of the gate receipts should be devoted to the benefit of disabled American servicemen.

The trophy was made by disabled New Zealand soldiers from the rare paua shell, which is found on a few beaches of the South Island of this country. It is in the form of a tobacco jar of the shell and silver, and is surmounted by a Kiwi, nearly extinct native bird of New Zealand native timber.

TWO CHILDREN DROWN

COLUMBUS, —(AP)— Two children drowned while playing in water in the Columbus territory yesterday. Phillip L. Mustain, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mustain, lost his life in Big Walnut creek near Groveport. Robert Collins drowned in a Columbus stone quarry pool.

U. S. Army Polls Soldiers on the Gifts They Prefer

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—What do the boys in service think of the gifts sent to them?

The War Department recently asked 1,205 representative soldiers what gifts they would like to receive—assuming that the sender had $2 or $3 to spend. Here are the results of the poll:

Cigarets—the most popular— 26 per cent.

Money—plain, ordinary cash—10 per cent.

Toilet and shaving articles, including razor blades, tooth brushes and shoe polish—eight per cent.

Candy—the crunchy kind—and inexpensive pocket-size books, were equally popular—both seven per cent.

Articles of clothing, particularly socks—five per cent.

Stationery and pen and pencil sets—three per cent.

Other suggestions made by the soldiers included a "small housewife," a sewing kit containing needles, threads, and other clothing repair material; decks of playing cards and subscriptions to home-town newspapers.

One tip the boys gave the War Department's poling committee was:

"Make the gift small—but frequent.

DOCTOR SAVES SCALPED WOMAN

ST. LOUIS — (INS) — A surgeon's skillful hands have saved the life of Mrs. Lola Thomlinson. Mrs. Thomlinson was critically injured when her hair caught in a machine at a seat cover company in St. Louis where she was employed. Her scalp was torn off.

In an unusual operation, requiring four hours, the scalp was replaced and today Mrs. Thomlinson is on the road to recovery.

The surgeon said the scalp operation was in the nature of a skin graft. During the operation it was necessary to roll the patient slowly over on the operating table as stitches were taken around the head.

THREE BILLION VOTED CIVILIAN WAR AGENCIES

House Committee Puts OK on Huge Expenditures For Home Front In '44.

1944 bill, as approved by the committee, will carry $1,114,226,280 more than appropriated for the same agencies in 1943.

The committee's approval of the vast sums and its highly complimentary report do not preclude bitter house and senate fights. But it was noteworthy that the two most criticized government agencies—the Office of Price Administration and the Office of War Information — weathered committe scrutiny with only minor financial cuts and received warm praise for fulfillment of difficult jobs.

OPA's request for $117,335,000 was cut $12,325,000 — money sought for personnel increases in Washington. The committee specified that $59,551,042 of OPA's money must be used for expenses incurred by local rationing boards and said that amount would allow 5,189 additional clerks for local boards but none for Washington headquarters.

The committee said that with the administrative changes which Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown is effecting the work of OPA can be effectively carried on next year with the funds granted. The committee commented that Brown's changes were "improving the administration."

OWI Director Elmer Davis, request for $47,342,000 was cut $12,869,496, but the committee promised to review it pending military developments. The committee said OWI's cut did not indicate that "any embarrassment should result therefrom" and invited attention to the part of the OWI has on the propaganda front in prosecution of the war."

The most lavish praise for a war agency was reserved for the bureau of economic warfare whose chairman is Vice-President Henry A. Wallace. It approved without change the budget estimate of $36,150,000 for BEW which is an increase of $13,206,154 over the appropriation for fiscal 1943.

The committee report said that "one of the most interesting and illuminating statements made by any witness during the entire hearings" on the work of the 18 war agencies was presented by the BEW's executive director, Milo Perkins.

"His testimony needs to be read to realize the grave importance of the work that is being done by that organization on the world economic front and the crucial part it is taking in the war effort," it said.

BEW's office of imports alone, the report said, is directing more than 200 purchase programs in 40 different countries or areas.

The committee's largest cut in a budget request was made in the $2,300,000,000 operational revolving fund of the war shipping administration. It denied $100,000,000 for the purchase of Canadian cargo vessels without specific explanation. Officials of the WSA revealed at hearings that the war shipping fleet will be more than doubled by the end of June, 1944.

It is estimated that there is one motion picture theater in the United States for every 8,000 inhabitants.

Census Figures Reveal Aliens Fast Dwindling

PHILADELPHIA — (U.P.) — The alien population of the United States in dwindling rapidly, an examination of census figures by the federal immigration and naturalization service has disclosed.

At the request of Leroy E. Snyder, assistant to the president of Gannett Newspapers, the service examined census figures for 1940, 1930 and 1920 and discovered that in 1940 the relation of aliens to the total population in 1940 was approximately 3 per cent, whereas it had been 5.1 in 1930 and 7.1 in 1920.

The figures confirmed Snyder's suggestion to Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization Earl G. Harrison that "the decrease in immigration since the new laws became effective, plus the recent rapid increase of naturalization, would show some startling changes in the percentages of alien population."

"Especially significant in this connection is the fact that the median age of aliens is 48 years while that of native-born and naturalized citizens is 28 years. While our total population has increased from 106,000,000 citizens in 1920 to approximately 132,000,000 in 1940, the alien population decreased in the same period from more than 7,000,000 to less than 5,000,000. Inasmuch as approximately 250,000 aliens are being naturalized every year and since immigration has virtually stopped, the non-citizen population is obviously on the wane."

CHAPLIN ELOPES, JOAN COLLAPSES

Ex-Screen Comic Reported To Be Marrying Oona O'Neill, Playwright's Daughter.

I must say that our relations have been strictly esoteric."

The district attorney's investigators, not having their dictionaries handy, let their inquiry go at that and nothing further was heard from Miss O'Neill, whose father long had been reported seeking to break up her friendship with Chaplin.

Soon thereafter the Chaplin-Barry paternity headlines collapsed when they signed an out-of-court agreement providing for obstetrical expenses, support of the forthcoming child, and a blood test four months after its birth to determine its father.

Reporters called Chaplin's high-walled mansion but could get no answer. Not even comments from the butler who had testified as to his master's innocence.

And so it went. It was old stuff to the Hollywood correspondents. It was the same Chaplin story; the only difference was a different name in the bridal column.

IRELAND FEARS POTATO FAMINE

DUBLIN—(INS)—The greatest potato famine in more than 100 years is threatened in southern Ireland.

Already many persons here have not tasted a potato for more than a week, and the country has not exported any since July, 1942.

There are no prospects, it is understood, of a helpful season this year. This year's crop is due, but all indications point to a poor harvest. Last year's crop fell short of expectations by half a million tons.

Piles — Get Relief Now

Millions of sufferers in the last 30 years have found a way to get quick relief from the itching and smarting of piles. They use a delightful cooling, soothing and astringent formula — Peterson's Ointment. No wonder one sufferer writes, "The itching and smarting were relieved, and I slept all night. Peterson's Ointment is marvelous." 35c a box, all druggists, 60c in tube with applicator. Money back if not delighted. —Adv.

AN APPLE FOR EVE--

CHAPTER XXXVI

"In anything official like this," Loveday said to herself nervously, "especially now, when everyone's so fidgety with nerves, they may make terrible difficulties! I wish Hugh could have come. He looks important," she murmured half aloud of a man who was walking about in a Coast Guard's uniform; "if he'd just stand still!"

"What is your business, madame?" a policeman said at her ear. Loveday jumped. She hastily groped in her bag for credentials, put them into his hand. The official cable from the War Department, the letters, the pink card, and the blue certificate.

The officer walked toward that space on the long dark pier-head that was directly under a hanging dazzling white lamp; scrutinized the papers carefully. Loveday watched him anxiously.

* * *

"You are Mrs. Lawrence Ingersoll?" he asked.

"Yes, I'm his wife."

"And he is coming in on this boat." This was a statement made after some study of the papers. "He is injured?"

"Yes. His foot's amputated." Her face, turned up earnestly to meet the man's look, had paled suddenly.

"Hospital case?"

"No. They said not. He wants to come directly home."

"How did you know that, Mrs. Ingersoll?" said a quiet, middle-aged, slender man who had joined them.

"I don't know how that news came. We didn't hear anything until last month. But I was notified that he had been injured, and his foot amputated, and that he had been decorated," Loveday said.

"He must be a brave man," the little man said, giving her a keen look through his eyeglasses.

"I don't know what he did, but he's been recommended for the Congressional Medal of Honor." Loveday groped in her bag again, produced a newspaper clipping and a picture. "This was in the Examiner ten days ago," she said. "Lieutenant Ingersoll; that's my husband."

The two men looked at the cutting, returned it to her.

"If you'll come this way," the small man said then. Loveday went with him along the dark pier. A fringe of men and women had been at the shore end of the roped-off dockhead, but down here in the dimly lighted, dark, high-roofed place, only officials, guards, and dock hands were scattered about.

She shivered, drew her big coat more warmly about her. Loveday leaned back against the wall of the shed and huddled herself into her garments too.

A man came down the dock with a big tray. Other quiet forms were seated on the kegs now; talk of husbands, brothers, sons, children, and their mothers evacuated from the danger zone went on. The thick cups of life-giving drink, the crisp buttery rolls went about. Loveday dozed, wakened, dozed again.

She was wide awake and looking up at the star-spangled black sky toward the north when suddenly half the glittering pageant was cut away. Blackness, high, unbroken, silent, had glided in between her eyes and the constellations. The ship was coming in.

There were no whistles, no lights, no cries of welcome. Quietly ropes were flung; figures moved in the dark; there was a subdued commotion. A few men came down the gangplank, a few went up. The first pallid, colorless light of dawn, striking in from the east, showed bundled, hooded children along the promenade deck rails, scores of small, intent faces.

Loveday stood fixed, watching the gangplank, but Larry had come across another gangplank, helped by friendly hands, and was close beside her when she heard his voice. Her heart choked her. Sh put her arms about him and, clumsily managing a single crutch, he stooped sidewise, his kiss touching her temple.

"Lord, I am glad to see you!"

He looked haggered and thin, but his hair was brushed to shining wetness, and his aviator's cap rode it jauntily.

"Larry, are you starving? It's almost seven!"

"Starving? No! They fed us an hour ago."

She and Larry walked slowly down the long pier; flashlights flickered; newspapermen bent their heads toward hers, asking questions; they knew who Larry was, who she was.

"You're free, Larry?"

"Discharged. Yep they've done all they can for me."

"Then we can go home?"

"You bet your life we can go home."

* * *

From the great sigh he gave as he lowered himself and his crutch clumsily into place beside her in her car, she knew what the three-hundred-foot walk had cost him; she gave his drawn face a quick compassionate glance before starting to drive slowly away amid the confusion of cars and people, police and ambulances.

"You were awfully good to come all the way in and take all that fuss, Loveday. I could have hopped a bus"

"Imagine me doing anything else! 'Hopped a bus,' when all Indian Hill is waiting for the hero!"

"Where'd you get that stuff!" His tone was scornful, but she knew he was pleased.

"Well, you should have seen the paper Monday night. I've saved several copies, one each for the twins and Owen. I sent one to your mother, but the Bakersfield paper had the whole thing too.

"For the lord's sake!"

"They're all perfectly hysterical over it, Larry. There's a triumphal arch over North Palo Verde street, and they're having a reception for you in the high school assembly room next week.

"No kidding?" Larry asked with an appalled face.

"No, seriously. Too much for you?" Loveday asked the question anxiously. "You're tired!" she said.

"I'm excited. But not tired, no." he said bashfully.

* * *

A pause. Then he asked. "So Hugh's sick?"

"He's all right. But he's been working too hard and he got a sharp touch of flu.

"How's money? I've got some coming."

"Money's fine. We don't get much, but we don't need much. You know I wrote you that Grandfather's fortune turned out to be a lot of old letters? You had that?"

"Didn't get it. I only had one from you before Pearl Harbor."

"Well, Hugh located Delia Dillon and she said that Grandfather had driven all the way up to see her a few months before he died and put a box of papers in her attic. You can imagine Hugh! He asked her to send it, and it reached us December first, a week before Pearl Harbor. Of course Hugh and I were all agog! we tore it open—"

"My God!" Larry put into the pause as Loveday, reaching a bad corner, concentrated on her driving.

"We tore it open," she said, "and there was a mass of old letters and diaries, nothing else! We poured them all out and shook them, opened envelopes—nothing but that."

"But where's all the money?"

"Perhaps we'll never know! Hugh thinks it's lost. Stuck down some rat hole or into some wet stump or pushed behind the fire in some grate that wasn't used until he'd forgotten all about it. But—"

She paused impressively. Larry shrugged impatiently, and she saw that his face wore an expression of weariness and pain.

"Some of us wives and mothers were on the pier at midnight," she told him, "but I hope they didn't keep you all waiting that long?"

"None of us got much sleep. Too excited. Landing cards and medical inspection—all that. They kept serving us coffee, and I suppose they kept us awake. But it's sort of wearing off, I guess."

"Is there much pain?" A faint movement of her head indicated his injury.

"Nope, no pain at all. If there was any when it happened I don't remember it. When he operated I was out, of course."

"The paper said that you dived from one of the ships and pushed some burning rubbish away from two men and brought one in."

"There were about four of 'em. The others could swim." Larry got so far and fell silent.

"Well, go on!" Loveday said with an exasperated ripple of laughter.

"Go on? That's about all there was to it. We were washing," Larry volunteered. "I only had on a pair of shorts when everything began at once. Some of us ran out on deck, and I'll be darned," he said drawlingly, almost in a bored tone, "if it didn't take us a few minutes to get through our heads what was going on. Then we saw that all hell had broken loose, and everybody sort of rushed around doing something. It seemed to last a God-awful time. Things were popping everywhere! There was oil on the water and the fire was burning the oil. I saw—I suppose I saw these fellers—they were diving under the water to get away from the fire, but when they came up for air the fire was over them, and they were right in the midst of it. They'd dive again, and then I saw one feller who couldn't swim—"

"So you went over?" Loveday supplied, her face pale, her eyes shining as she drove steadily along.

"Two of us did. Foster and I—he got badly burned, died next day. But cripes," Larry said, "you couldn't keep your eyes on what the fellers were doing. If there was anyone in the whole shooting box who was yellow I didn't see him. God, what guts; All of 'em—all of 'em!"

"And how did it happen?" she pointed to his leg.

"Getting back to the boat. I shoved this sailor up to the ladder and swung myself up after him, and then the tender smashed against my foot. I felt every bone in it go and I knew it was done for. Nobody's fault. I was thankful that there was a surgeon there and he knew what to do."

"We didn't know, Hugh and I, whether you could even walk or not."

"Oh, sure, I can walk, and after they fix on some attachment they talk about I'll walk better. I'm going to take a rest and then I'll go back."

"Not flying!"

"Nope, but there's lots of other ways you can make yourself useful beside flying. They're going to need everyone."

"Yes, it's the greatest war of all time and you're in it. Rod and Hugh are in it; John Fayre, Fanny's husband and Nini's husband, Marge's and Betty-Lou's husbands—we're all in it together. Well, God's given me back my man; he won't have to go into danger again, and I've my children, and I've my home where all the others—Marge and Fan and all of them—can come from time to time to rest and perhaps be healed of some of the bitterness and the grief of it. There isn't any other world for me but just here, and there'll never be any other man for me me but just you!"

"There's never been any woman for me but you, Loveday!" Larry whispered unsteadily.

His eyes had closed; he was not listening, and for a little while he slept.

Presently she touched his shoulder with her own.

"Indian Hill, Larry! Look at the people! The whole countryside has come to welcome you home."

WOOD PAYS

ORONO, Me. —(U.P.)— Maine's warcry now is "Woodman, chop that tree!"

It all began in Troy when citizens discovered they could make their town forest pay off in dollars and cents as well as firewood. More than 200 cords of fuelwood and 85 cords of pulpwood cut from what once was tax-delinquent farmland sold rapidly in a fuel-scarce market.

Other towns were quick to follow the path hewn by Troy. Waterford cut 315,000 board feet of pine and received $2,000 in stumpage, while Oxford cut $2,000 worth of hemlock and pine from its town-owned land.

Little things that become Big Things

THE U.S. ARMY Ordnance Department, early in 1942, asked one of our executives if we had a factory near a good supply of water, of sufficient size to make small calibre ammunition at the rate of many millions every twenty-four hours. We had such a factory on the Ohio River with enough feet of floor space.

"FROM CARS TO BULLETS FOR TOMMY GUNS, PISTOLS, REVOLVERS"

It was well placed near additional unused land and far enough from the city to allow the storage of powder and the loading and testing of ammunition.

The work of preparation was started immediately. The automobile machinery in the plant, which could not be used, was dismantled and put elsewhere. It was replaced by new and different equipment. A specialized laboratory was installed and staffed with engineers, metallurgists, and technicians drawn from our widely diversified staff. Production executives and specialists were also selected from our own personnel. While the factory was being prepared for production, the Frankford arsenal assisted the training of these production specialists who, in turn, were to train the workers and supervise the operation of the many departments of the plant.

The first finished ammunition produced in this newly organized plant went on test in May, 1942. The cartridge cases were then made of brass. Brass is an extremely vital war material. Could steel be used instead? Could steel be worked over the machinery and tools that were provided for the use of brass? Could the steel be treated to withstand the corrosion of a long sea voyage and to resist successfully the humidity of the tropics and the sub-zero temperatures of the Arctic? The U. S. Army Ordnance Department — and our own engineers, metallurgists and technicians believed it could. More engineering talent — this time chemists — were added to the laboratory staff and the larger and more complete Chrysler Corporation's laboratories, in Detroit, were also directed to the solution of this problem.

"COULD IT BE DONE WITH STEEL?"

The first of the new steel casings were made in the month of August, 1942. They were pretty good. Then began severe testing,—spraying with wet salt air, burying in salty mud marshes washed by the tide,—storing in hot damp rooms and open exposure to the weather,— plating with lacquer, copper, cadmium, nickel, chrome, zinc, silver, lead—dipping in dichromate, sealing with plastics. A vast cycle of experiments were tried and tested and the results compared. From all this effort came a standardized product made of steel, and approved for use on all the battle fronts.

The making of this ammunition is really the art of producing many pieces rapidly—many thousands per minute, every day, 6 days a week. Ninety-nine operations are performed to take each piece of ammunition from the lead, steel and powder stage to the formed, loaded, tested and packed, finished article — ready to shoot, — with every piece perfect in shape, finish, and firing efficiency.

We have made our first billion of this steel ammunition. Not that this is a top record for ammunition making but, to us, it is a milestone passed on the road to Victory. We will pass the second and third billion with much less emotion but we really got a thrill out of joining the ranks of the important producers of ammunition.

With this change to steel we release, with every billion rounds, thousands of tons of brass. This brass can now be used in war production where no other substitute is possible.

"A LITTLE THING BECAME BIG"

A finished round of ammunition weighs only a few ounces. Little things often do become really big and important.

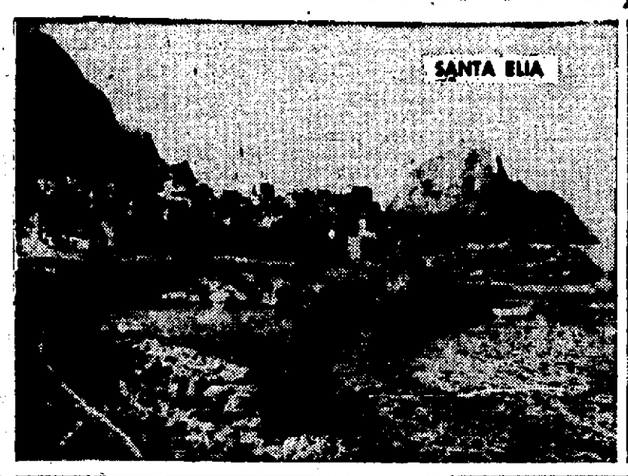
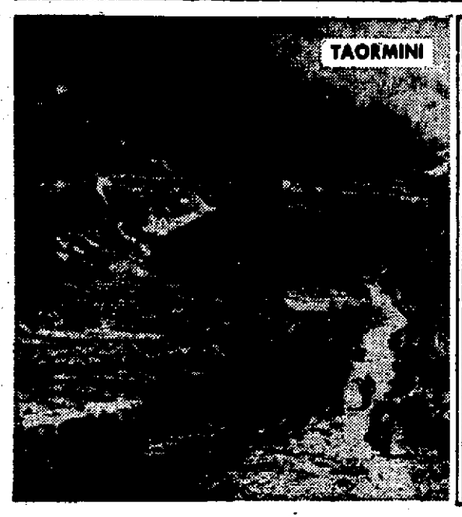
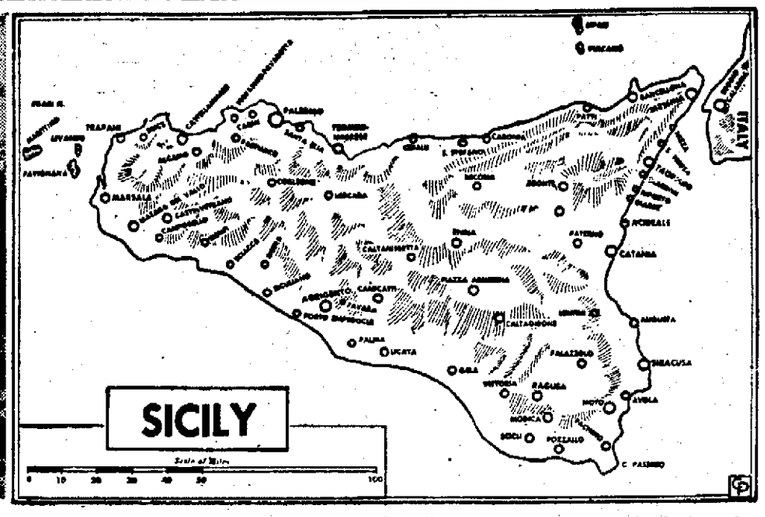
Allies Turn Pantelleria-Style Attack Now on Sicily







Italian island of Sicily now becomes the target of the hundreds of Allied bombers based in the Mediterranean area following surrender and occupation of four other Italians islands to the south. Three of the principal Sicilian cities and a map of the island are shown above. Reports have been received that the civilian population is being evacuated to the Italian mainland and that headquarters of the Luftwaffe have been shifted from Sicily to the mainland also to escape complete destruction.

ARMY DOCTORS AMONG UNSUNG HEROES OF WAR

Manning First Aid Stations In Panama, They Are on 24-Hour Duty.

(By International News Service)

AN ARMY FIRST AID OUTPOST IN PANAMA—The doctors serving in army first aid outposts are among the unsung heroes of the war.

They have maintained a 24-hour alert since the beginning of the war. They have worked under conditions which might have seemed impossible to them in the civilian days back home.

They are young men who can stand the rigors of training in the field and in the jungle. Most of them came into this service direct from internships or from practices which were just getting under way.

Unlike the doctors in the field and base hospitals, they are not gaining experience which will benefit them when they return to civilian practice.

Much of their time is taken up with learning and perfecting military tactics as it concerns their work, a wide field of preventive medicine, sanitation and inspection.

And the matter of maintaining a 24-hour alert is just not a catch phrase—it means that their unit is on duty at all outposts 24 hours a day and their turns at such duties, because of their small staffs, is frequent.

Consequently their days and nights are filled with activities which hinder their attendance at medical meetings and makes it practically impossible for them to keep abreast of medical developments by study. They are too busy studying their job in this war.

"What I miss most, I guess, is hospital work,' declared a young surgeon on duty here. "It would help a lot, of course, if we could alternate this field work with duty in base hospitals, but that just isn't the way it works out."

Their task is the tactical one of evacuating casuals, giving them such first aid as is essential to prevent infection and further injury, and getting them to hospitals where the real medical work begins.

When they return to civil life they will have to burn a lot of midnight oil to catch up with the youngsters who came along too late for service, and with those whose experience will be all the richer for having served in base hospitals during the war.

But those to whom I have talked are not complaining. They realize that theirs is a vital job and that they are the men to do it. They are not alone in their plight. Months ago I boarded an airplane tender far at sea and after the formalities of introduction the young surgeon aboard looked at me hopefully and asked:

"Do you, by any chance, need an appendectomy?"

The work is hard, interesting and essential but it is a far cry from their chosen work.

In these outposts they have won the respect and confidence of many of the natives by giving emergency treatment which saved their lives, but it was still first aid.

All are anxious for the war to end for a number of reasons, among them being their anxiety to get back in the advancing stream of their profession.

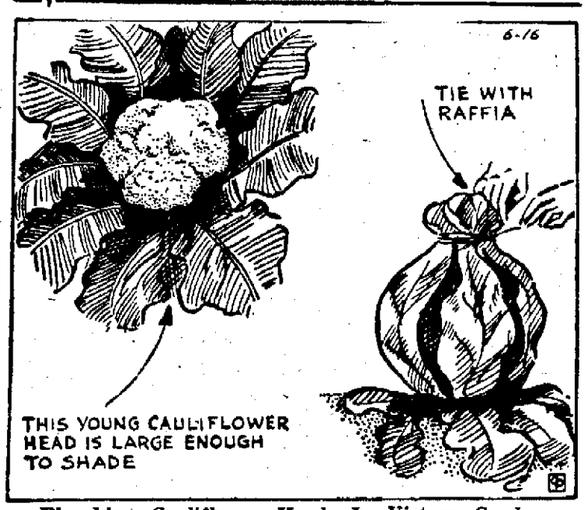
Some picture of their plight might be found in the fact that in this area there is a palm thatched hut where a native wife is pregnant.

And practically all the doctors in these outposts are keeping an eager, if somewhat wistful eye on her, each hoping he will be on duty when the time comes so that he can do the honors.

Jap Proud of Himseif Guarding Women

A Jap soldier proudly poses for a photo which shows him guarding the barbed wire enclosure of a prison camp somewhere in the Far East. Inside are three of the prisoners, a woman and two children, who appear to be Americans. The photo was made from a negative found on the body of a Jap killed in Guadalcanal, where the Japs found life a little more risky than guarding women and children. (International soundphoto).

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH



Bleaching Cauliflower Heads In Victory Garden.

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Ass'n.

Cauliflower requires a little more than ordinary care given to many vegetables in the Victory garden. It belongs to the cabbage family and is subject to the same diseases and enemy insects. Cabbage worms and aphis are destructive on cauliflower.

Cauliflower is more exacting in its requirements than cabbage and to obtain healthy, well developed heads it must be kept growing continuously. This means that the plants must be fed an abundance of easily absorbed plant food (if the soil is not rich) plus an ample supply of water, especially during dry spells. Cultivation is also essential.

Cauliflower must be protected from the sun if solid, tender, white heads are to form. For this reason it is necessary to blanch cauliflower by excluding all light possible when the flower heads are about three or four inches in diameter.

The accompanying Garden-Graph illustrates the method of blanching cauliflower by tying the large outer leaves together over the young "curds" or heads with raffia. Tie loosely and carefully so the "curds" are not bruised or broken, for the heads must continue to grow.

Care should be exercised in cultivating around cauliflower plants since the foliage is quite brittle and will break easily.

CLOSING DOORS

1,000 Taverns In Ohio Shut In 4 Months of 1943.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Wartime conditions caused more than 1,000 Ohioans to give up tavern keepers' licenses during the first four months of 1943, liquor department records showed today.

Renewals of the eight most popular types of beer and liquor permits dropped to 9,212 during the January to May period, a decline of 1,098 from the total for the same period last year. This cost the state $182,700 in license fees, James W. Blair, department permit chief, disclosed.

State Liquor Director Don Fisher said many of 783 tavern keepers who failed to obtain licenses to sell 3.2 or beer of higher alcoholic content were located in outlying districts and were forced out of business by gasoline and tire rationing.

BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

ALIQUIPPA, Pa.—(U.P.)—Harold L. "Red" Matticks' crew twice broke its own world's record for rolling steel ingots at the Jones Laughlin blooming mill. On a recent night shift the crew rolled 512 white-hot ingots, topping the previous mark by 12. "Red" says "the sky's the limit."

QUEER GARDEN

DENMARK, S. C.—(U.P.)—W. Q. Collins, of Denmark, S. C., says he will not be satisfied with just common products in his Victory garden. So he's growing products that are not often seen in this section.

Using a half-acre of ground, Collins is planting rare fruit trees, among which are damsons, apricots, nectarines, grapefruit, orange, pomegranate, cherries, quince, prune, date and filbert.

Collins doesn't raise chickens, but rather specializes in a breed known as the turk-hen, a cross between the chicken and turkey.

BOY'S BODY FOUND

OWI Reveals Year-Ahead Propaganda Invasion Moves

DAVIS REPORTS NEWS BUREAU'S READY TO ACT

But Outline of Plans Fails To Forestall Sharp Cut In Agency's Funds.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON —The Office of War Information, propagandizing the world in the interest of a speedy victory, today is secretly preparing on a vast scale for the invasion moves of the year ahead.

Director Elmer Davis, in testimony made public by the house appropriations committee, disclosed that his organization is preparing its propaganda machinery and personnel for "any one of a number of places" in the directory of second front possibilities.

Following the pattern of North Africa, OWI propaganda teams and facilities will move with the invasion forces "at the appointed hour" and set up shop in new territory as it is taken over by the United Nations, Davis said.

The committee was told that even now the OWI overseas news bureau is providing American news to 3,000 newspapers in 39 countries, operating with 2,799 employes through 30 "outposts" scattered around the globe.

But not even the plea of Davis in behalf of the vital role of propaganda warfare persuaded the committee to grant him a full contingency fund for military operations of $10,000,000 as requested. The committee cut the amount in half—to $5,000,000.

"We know, of course, that the Allies are going to be on the offensive during the coming fiscal year," said Davis. "We do not know where our forces will strike next or at how many places.

"We are preparing for any one of a number of places and will prepare more extensively as the joint chiefs of staff tell us precisely what is expected of us. Preceding each invasion, we know we shall have to prepare advance plans and facilities in great secrecy.

"We shall have to obtain radio transmitters, including mobile units; we shall prepare as many transcriptions in advance as we safely can for use at the appointed hour; we shall train language teams for broadcast and other propaganda purposes.

"If offensive military action brings new territory over to the United Nations we shall put men on the ground operating printing presses, disseminating news, helping the army carry on combat propaganda, and hitting the enemy behind the lines with everything we can to increase the tempo of his demoralization as has been done successfully in Tunisia.

The OWI organization for worldwide propaganda—in which, Davis said, truth is the weapon—has reorganized its overseas branch into seven units—with the world divided into seven areas. They are: the British empire, Latin Europe (France, Belgium, Spain, Portugal, Italy and French North Africa), Germany-Austria-Holland, Scandinavia (including Finland), southeast Europe (including Turkey), the Middle East (Egypt, Iran, Iraq, Syria, Lebanon), and the Far East.

400 Attend Daily Vacation Bible School Classes

Attendance in the six vacation Bible schools yesterday totaled 400, Mrs. Albert L. Linder, chairman of the school committee, announced this morning.

Top attendance was reported at Park Avenue Baptist church school, 130. Other figures were: Mayflower Congregational, 85; First United Brethren, 65, St. John's Evangelical, 57; Salvation Army, 48, and Union Gospel, 15.

These six schools, sponsored by Mansfield Council of Religious Education, will continue through June 25. Classes meet Monday through Friday from 9 to 11:30 a. m.

St. Matthew's Lutheran church school has been called off because of lack of instructors.

Attendance at St. Paul's school yesterday was 49. This school is sponsored by the church.

YOUTH HELD ON CAR CHARGE

Charged with driving an automobile without the owner's consent, a 16-year-old Willard youth was being held this morning at the Salvation army detention home pending arrival of authorities from Newark, from where he is alleged to have taken an automobile Sunday morning.

The youth was visiting relatives in Newark, state patrolmen reported. He was apprehended yesterday at the Willard roundhouse, where he is employed, and was brought to Mansfield.

Officers reported the car was found damaged four miles south of Utica Monday.

CROP GUARDED

PORTLAND, Ore. —(U.P.)— Oregon's $1,000,000 crop of peppermint has been declared a war crop by the U. S. government. With the menthol supply from the Far East cut off by the war, it remains the country's principal source of menthol.

AUDITOR SPLITS LICENSE FUNDS

Revenue from the sale of cigaret licenses was distributed today by County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe. The total amounted to $9,796 and covers the license period of May 1943-44.

Of this amount, the state receives $4,898, the county, $2,449, and townships and municipalities, $2,449.

Mansfield's share in the revenue totals $1,677, Shelby, $236, and Madison township, $157.

Three hundred and 58 retailers pail $25 and six wholesalers $100.

NEW ACCIDENTS HIT LAKE SHIPS

Grain and Ore Vessels Sunk, Another Damaged; Crane Knocked Off Dock.

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND — Great Lakes shipping, delayed by a late season opening and hit by a series of accidents, today was struck two more blows.

The new 621-foot ore carrier Frank Armstrong, swinging at anchor last night near Point Iroquois just above Sault Ste. Marie, was rammed by the Canadian freighter Goderich.

The Goderich was able to proceed, but extent of the damage to the Armstrong, built by the maritime commission at Ashtabula, was not reported.

A second accident last night sent one of the giant Hulett unloaders at the lakefront docks crashing into the hold of the freighter J. H. Sheadle of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company.

The crane, which weighs many tons, will require a day to remove. The Sheadle was tied up at the dock, preventing other ships from unloading.

The ore-laden steamer George M. Humphreys of Cleveland sank in the Straits of Mackinac yesterday following a collision with the Pittsburgh Steamship company vessel, the D. M. Clemson.

In another accident yesterday the British coastal freighter Brewster, carrying 93,000 bushels of grain, went down in the St Clair river after a collision with the W. D Calverly, jr., of Hutchinson and company, Cleveland. The crew of 37 was saved. The Calverly was able to proceed after repairs.

SEASON OPENS

First Day of Bass Fishing Attracts Mansfielders.

With bass season opening throughout Ohio, a large number of Mansfielders today started out for popular fishing spots.

The southern fishing zone opened June 1, with the remainder opening today. Only exceptions are the Lake Erie district and Pymatuning reservoir which will open July 1.

Conservation Commissioner Don Waters also announced that all fish safety zones in Ohio streams and fish sanctuaries in Ohio lakes, except the permanent sanctuaries in the lakes under the control of the Ohio division of conservation and the natural resources which are plainly marked with red and white signs, will be thrown open to public fishing today.

DRIVERS ESCAPE AS CARS CRASH

Homer J. Dise, Mansfield R. D. 4, and Ralph G. Steward, Jeromesville, both escaped injury when Steward's truck collided with an automobile driven by Dise on U. S. Route 30, three and one-half miles east of the city, yesterday, state highway patrolmen reported.

Frank Karban, jr., Cleveland, was fined $10 and costs in Mansfield municipal court this morning on a charge of speeding Tuesday afternoon on U. S. Route 42, officers said. He was clocked at 65 miles per hour.

DAMAGE SUIT SEEKS $5,000

Suit was filed in common pleas court yesterday by John Satterfield of Lexington against the Kroger Grocery and Baking company, asking judgment of $5,840.06.

Satterfield charges that on April 2 he was driving his car on U. S. Route 42, one and a half miles south of Mansfield when he was side-swiped by a Kroger truck, causing injury to himself, damage to his car and a loss of working hours.

NEW UCT HEAD

Ohioan Named National Councillor of Order at Meeting.

TIFFIN —(AP)— Rollins B. Garrett of Hamilton, O., was elected national councillor of the Junior Order, United American Mechanics, at closing sessions of the organization's national convention here today. He was unopposed and succeeds Ralph Morris of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Philadelphia was chosen as the site for the 1945 convention and plans were made for the order's program of the next two years.

PREDICT MEAT SHORTAGE FOR AREAS IN OHIO

Federal Food Officials Say Slaughterers May Be Forced To Curtail Supply.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Federal food distribution administration officials predicted today that metropolitan Ohio areas may experience a meat shortage during the latter part of June comparable to that immediately preceding nationwide meat rationing.

FDA officials pointed out that all slaughterers now are operating on a quota basis divided over four equal quarters of three months each. The current quarter began in April and ends this month.

Officials said many slaughterers already have butchered a large part of their quota because of unprecedented demand and now may be forced to curtail slaughtering operations to avoid exceeding quotas.

An FDA spokesman added, however, that Ohio's food situation has been largely stable except for temporary shortages of potatoes which was the result of a nation-wide situation and meat shortages in the Dayton and Akron area several weeks ago.

The latter shortages resulted from a lack of meat packing facilities rather than from a shortage of meat, however, the spokesman said, because available meat packing facilities had been heavily overtaxed by huge influxes of war workers.

In the absence of local meat packing facilities, the only alternative was to ship in meat in refrigeration cars whose movements are controlled carefully by the office of defense transportation.

He said the potato shortage now has been largely alleviated and that the only current shortage of food items has been reported from the Cleveland area where there is a scarcity of onions.

Because of its geographical location and strategically-located roads and railroad lines, Ohio has been receiving a fair share of food, he concluded.

State Approves Merger of City, Township Defense

The Ohio civilian defense council today authorized the merger of the Madison township and Mansfield civilian defense set-ups to effect a better coordination between the two areas during black out tests.

Approval of the merger, sought by the Mansfield civilian defense council, was submitted to Mayor W. J. Locke as chairman of the council.

The council had contended that unless the township, which surrounds the city, is completely blacked out, the suburban lights would outline Mansfield.

By merging the two units, the Mansfield defense council will be permitted to issue helmets, gas masks, and other civilian defense equipment to OCD workers in the township outside the city, a procedure which has been illegal, Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, OCD coordinator, said.

Although Mansfield OCD officials have exercised some supervision over the township, they have not had authority to bring the township completely into line with the city in all civilian defense operations, Judge Kalbfleisch said.

2 MANSFIELD FIRMS BID LOW

Two Mansfield firms were announced today as the low bidders on state highway department bridge and street resurfacing jobs totaling $108,018.

John Hill, Mansfield bridge contractor, apparently will receive a contract for building two steel beam bridges over the Mahoning river at Newton Falls, Mahoning county, on his bid of $70,984. Each of the bridges will have three spans.

Listed as the low bidder on resurfacing with concrete of 2.12 miles of U. S Routes 42 and 250 in the city of Ashland was the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company which submitted a figure of $37,034.

BOARD TAKES UP WAGE DISPUTE

A wage and contract dispute between the Ideal Electric and Manufacturing company and the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers was scheduled to go before a three-member War Labor board panel in Cleveland today.

The dispute, involving 310 workers at the Ideal plant, has been pending for several months and a few weeks ago it was submitted to the WLB.

Ernest Cornell, public member of the panel, is chairman. Other members are John R. Cox, representing industry, and Frank Scheepers, labor representative. All members are from Cleveland.

PEP PASSES ARMY TEST

HARTFORD, Conn. — (U.P.) — Featherweight champion Willie Pep passed his final physical examination at the induction center today and was ordered to report for army basic training at Fort Devens, Mass., July 1.

Chances of FDR Request for 16 Billion Tax Boost Fade

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt's January request for $16,000,000,000 in new revenue today appears to have faded in the eyes of congressmen to nothing this year and "only what the traffic will bear" next year.

Leaders of the house ways and means committee and the senate finance committee conveyed that information to treasury officials late yesterday, but pledged their best efforts to write some sort of a new tax bill in time for it to become effective Jan. 1, 1944.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton, D., N. C., of the ways and means committee called his group to a meeting today to obtain a promise to return from a congressional vacation, now tentatively planned to begin about July 4, ahead of other congressmen for new tax gearings.

President Roosevelt may send congress specific recommendations for new taxes before the recess, although he told his press conference last Friday that he hadn't decided for sure whether to do so. In any event, he said then, the message would probably be on the general subject of inflation rather than just on taxes.

Yesterday there was no agreement on the amount of new taxes or methods of raising them.

President Roosevelt told congress last January that he wanted $16,000,000,000 more revenue this year—through taxes, savings, or both. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., since then has rejected compulsory savings and proposed that the entire amount be raised through taxation.

Some congressional members of yesterday's conference protested to Morgenthau against setting an arbitrary goal such as $16,000,000,000 or seeking to raise such an amount through taxation alone.

In any event, they told him, the new pay-as-you-go tax plan with collections on a current basis and through payroll deductions makes it impossible to make new individual income taxes effective until the start of the new calendar year. The same rule, of letting the taxpayer know early in the year what his tax burden is going to be, also applies to new corporate tax levies, they contended.

MEET TODAY

Community War Chest Trustees To Hear Reports.

Trustees of the Community and War Chest meet today at 7:30 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce to hold elections and approve a code of operations for the organization.

Members of the executive committee will be elected from the nominations made by the committee composed of W. C. Mansfield, Allen Bond, W. L. Miller, and George Smith.

Msgr. R. C. Goebel will present for approval a code of operations drawn up by his committee composed of Atty. J. H. Gongwer and Clarence Fike. John G. Routzon, chairman of the committee on incorporation, will report on that committee.

Four new trustees will be elected to fill the vacancies left by the resignations of Robert Remy, W. J. Russell, Fred Tracy, and Dr. Howard Peck. One new trustee will be added.

H. G. Brunner, president, will be in charge of the meeting and John W. Graham, treasurer, will make a report on the first seven months of operation.

15 INDICTED

Accused of Being Leaders In Ohio Lottery Syndicates.

YOUNGSTOWN—(AP)— Fifteen men, identified by state officials as leaders of four lottery syndicates here, were indicted today in the second partial report returned by a special state grand jury probing vice and rackets in Mahoning county.

Warrants were issued immediately for the men and deputies were called to serve them.

The indictments contain 58 counts with some of the leaders facing almost a score of charges of being operators and owners of a lottery business on certain days in recent months.

All indictments involve misdemeanors which carry maximum sentences of three months' imprisonment and fines of $500 on each count.

MAXIMUM PRICE SHEETS ARRIVE

Charles C. Beelman, ration board chairman, announced today that the maximum price regulation sheets have arrived at the ration office and are ready for distribution.

He said that more than 200 restaurant, cafe, soda fountain and other eating and drinking place operators in this vicinity must call at board offices for copies of regulations.

Playground Enrollment Spurts With Prospect Leading.

Enrollment in the Mansfield city parks' summer playground program skyrocketed to 414 yesterday, Recreation Director Al Fendrick reported.

Prospect park, with 176 registered, boasted the top attendance with 152 reported at John's park and 86 at Liberty park.

RUSH OVER

Income Tax Deadline Ends Crowds at Postoffice.

The June 15 deadline for the second income tax payment has come and gone and with it has gone the crowds which formed long lines before the money order windows at the postoffice.

Internal revenue workers reported today that Mansfielders had not waited until the last minute to make payments coming in at least several days ahead of the deadline. They reported that Monday was the largest day with the rush dropping off yesterday and getting cleared up before 5 p. m. closing time last evening.

The payment was the last to be made under the old tax system which will be replaced beginning July 1 with the 20 per cent withholding tax.

Taft Sees Meat Famine In Month, Scores Subsidies

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Criticizing attempts of Price Administrator Prentiss Brown to roll back retail prices, Senator Taft (R., Ohio) told Brown at a congressional hearing today that because of "demoralization" of markets "you are not going to have any meat for civilians in the next month."

The Ohioan contended that efforts of the Office of Price administration (OPA) to cut back prices charged by packers with the promise of subsidies had virtually halted packer purchases on all of the major meat markets in the country.

Brown, defending plans for subsidy payments to hold prices down in testimony before the senate banking committee, replied that unusually large meat purchases for the army are to blame for any threatened civilian shortage, rather than confusion over the roll back proposal. He said the army and navy now are taking 45 per cent of the country's meat supply.

EXPECT RULING WILL BE MINE UNION REBUFF

Coal Operators Await War Board's Decision With 'Front' Reformed.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Appalachian coal operators reformed their united front against John L. Lewis today and awaited a War Labor Board decision which they expected would rebuff the United Mine Workers.

The breakdown in negotiations between Lewis and central Pennsylvania operators, who bolted the Appalachian conference last week, threw the Pennsylvania group back in line with the other producers although they made no formal move to reunite.

The UMW's 200-man policy committee meets today to receive a report on the new breakdown and other developments in their wage dispute, and perhaps to decide whether a new work stoppage in the coal fields will follow expiration of the present working truce at midnight Sunday. The WLB decision may not be released until tomorrow or Friday.

The collapse of negotiations with the central Pennsylvania operators erased the strategic victory Lewis won last week in breaking the operators' solid front. The UMW had hoped other operators would fall in line and accept the tentative agreement reached with the Pennsylvania group. Instead, the remaining operators did not yield and conferences with the Pennsylvania producers broke down over a technicality. That breakdown, however, may have represented a strategic move by the union.

Charles O'Neill, president of the Central Pennsylvania association, notified the War Labor Board yesterday that he had been unable to agree with Lewis over a clause to protect the operators against legal claims for underground travel pay.

O'Neill and Lewis had agreed on $1.30 daily to meet the union's demands for portal-to-portal pay for underground travel time. The operators insisted that the union should guarantee the operators permanently against claims which might be brought under the wage-hour law for travel time before last April 1.

Lewis refused, however, to make any such guarantee effective beyond April 1, 1944. To that offer, the operators replied they wanted a permanent settlement, not a postponement, of the issue.

Although he revealed that the operators sought protection against prior claims for portal-to-portal pay, O'Neill reaffirmed the operators' stand that travel time already was recognized in the wage contract. O'Neill said he had confidently expected to draft an agreement until this final conference with Lewis yesterday.

Some observers believed Lewis had rejected the operators' proposal to avoid waiving portal-to-portal claims for previous years in an agreement which the WLB was expected to veto. If the board follows the course it has indicated, it will ignore the portal-to-portal dispute as a legal question outside its jurisdiction or will recommend acceptance of a small payment far below the union's $1.30 demand. The UMW may respond by carrying its claims to court.

PUSH WORK TO ACQUIRE LAND

City Completing Negotiations To Widen South Main For New Intersection.

With work already under way on one of the city's major street projects for the summer, Service-Safety Director Fred B. Wolff said today that the city is rapidly completing negotiations for land to widen South Main street at Lexington avenue and that job will be ready for final action by council in a few days.

Carl H. Stander, Mansfield contractor, had started work today on resurfacing McPherson street, one of six major thoroughfares to be repaired by him under a contract involving expenditure of approximately $30,000. He will resurface Hedges street next and then probably will start on Third street in the downtown area, Wolff said.

Other streets included in the project are West Second from Main to Mulberry, South Mulberry from Park avenue west to First street, and West First street from Main to Mulberry.

The state highway department will let the contract for the South Main street and Lexington avenue widening and resurfacing next month. The city must acquire the right-of-way for widening the two streets for a short distance north and southwest of their intersection.

HELPS HOUSEWIFE

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Hunter college now offers a course called Consumers' Problems in Wartime to help the harried housewife. The scope and operation of the rationing program are discussed in addition to the problems of the homemaker as the purchasing agent for the family today.

That Extra Something!

. . . You can spot it every time

EVEN a general in Africa writes home how much he misses meeting the gang downtown to enjoy a Coca-Cola. Overseas, Coke is a refreshing remembrance of home. Men cherish its taste and refreshment.

The newspapers have been full of such incidents. Such as Bataan survivors getting hold of some fruit, eggs and Coca-Cola. Mighty welcome fare to them, they said.

These men, like yourself, have found in ice-cold Coca-Cola all the difference between something really refreshing and just something to drink. Yes, the only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself.

Word that "the Coke's in" packs any canteen these days. Every good soldier wants the drink that adds energy to refreshment.
